Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Several North Main street merchants have just about decided that the adoption of New York City's anti-horn tootin' ordinance should be adopted by Santa Ana. There is a constant and unnecessary horn sounding far into the night, when old man Morpheus wants to slumber. And the wild wedding hullabaloo seems to be a special North Main street feature. The complainants have decided that horn tootin' as a signal is o. k., but as an instrument of hilarity, it's a d— nuisance. Anyway, that's the way I heard it.

Next Friday summer closes its seasonal performance and yields the stage to autumn. That's the time when the leaves begin to turn, when the fodder's in the shock, when the spirit of James Whitcomb Riley peeks from behind the corn stalks and waves his frosty fingers in mystic and cryptic field language. When grandpa tells little grandson about Injun summer when the redskins were [illegible] when the smoky haze of autumn portends the coming harvest. It's a great season of the year when nature gives the merry ha ha to the artist in his attempt to portray the natural beauties of the Creator.

I have been for many years a consistent believer in and advocate of newspaper advertising. Recently I suggested in this column my inclination to get my cap dyed red so I could more closely affiliate with the "beanie" freshmen at Jaysee. A communication comes addressed to "Dear Goliath," from the "Skinny-Spare-Your - Cap - Committee," removing the necessity and expense of making the change in my ordinary head gear. Enclosed in an envelope of sufficient size but without sufficient postage, comes one of those cute little colored caps which got Little Red Riding Hood in trouble. Everything is jake, except when I meet Vic Rowland.

"Brick" gave the marching order for his division at 1:45 p. m. Wise old owl. He got lunch first.

Coaches On Siding Hit By Locomotive That Should Have Passed

NILAND, Calif. (AP)—The sudden, unexplainable decision of a brakeman to throw a siding switch was blamed by Southern Pacific officials for a railroad wreck today that killed 11 persons and injured 100, many critically.

C. F. Donnatin, Southern Pacific superintendent at Los Angeles, blamed the wreck on "man failure, an unexplainable act by Eric Leonard Jacobson," head-end brakeman employed by the road for 18 years. A split-second after the switch was thrown, the Argonaut, crack limited train Los Angeles-bound from New Orleans, roared down the track, swerved sharply onto the siding and plowed into its sister train, the Californian, east-bound for Chicago.

The Californian was waiting for the Argonaut to pass on the main single tracks.

J. H. Dyer of San Francisco, a vice president of the Southern Pacific, and W. H. Kirkbride, chief engineer of the road, who were in the wreck, aboard Dyer's private car, said Jacobson apparently became confused as he saw the Argonaut approaching, thought the switch was wrongly set, unlocked it and threw it.

RULE BROKEN

The three officials of the road said Jacobson's act was in violation of "one of the most important rules of the service, namely, that when one train is standing on a siding to allow another to pass on a main single line, the brakeman must not approach the switch stand nearer than 20 feet.

Donnatin said Jacobson, dazed and hysterical by the effect of his sudden decision, is unable to explain his action.

MOST ASLEEP

Both locomotives were overturned and the first three cars of the Argonaut and the first coach of the Californian were derailed All of the seven passenger dead were in a Californian coach, which was telescoped by the terrific impact. The fireman of the Argonaut and the engineer and fireman of the Californian were killed.

Nearly all the passengers were asleep at the time of the collision, 1:35 a. m. Scores were sent tumbling and screaming from their berths. Darkness heightened the confusion and hysteria of the passengers as they sought to escape from the smashed coaches.

TORCHES USED

Rescue work was impeded because many of those trapped in the twisted steel coaches had to be cut out by acetylene torches. Relief trains were sent from Yuma, Ariz., and Indio, Cal., to the wreck.

One of the relief locomotives pulled the Argonaut's passenger cars which were not derailed, back to Yuma where many of the injured were taken off, and the Argonaut proceeded to Los Angeles on another route.

Some of the injured were treated at the scene by doctors and nurses hastily recruited from small communities in this sparsely populated area.

MOTHER DIES, BABY LIVES

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Southern Pacific officials here said Mrs. Joe Sorrels of Tucson and Nogales was killed but her eight-months-old baby was uninjured in the collision of two passenger trains near Niland, Cal., today.

She was the wife of the United States customs inspector stationed here. Railroad officials said the baby was being brought to Tucson.

Hottest Day

No wonder you're warm. At 1 p. m. the mercury stood at 94, making it the hottest day of the year.

Gun Club Licenses Killed

A two-year fight by Orange county water district directors against licensing of gun clubs to use underground water for duck ponds ended in a blaze of verbal fireworks today, as county supervisors rescinded the controversial law on advice of Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton.

The ordinance, in conflict with a state supreme court decision, had been attacked by the water district ever since it was passed and a former ordinance, prohibiting waste of water and upheld by the state supreme court, suddenly repealed in 1936.

RIVALS TANGLE

A score of gun clubs along the coast now are beginning their annual campaign of pond-filling, and repeal of the ordinance will shut them out entirely.

The political tiff between Supervisor John Mitchell and Willis Warner, district director and leading contender for Mitchell's job in the November election, flamed into words during this morning's session.

Mitchell, who opposed rescinding of the licensing ordinance on grounds "I don't want to stick my neck out and get sued," accused Warner of being a former gun club member.

MEMBERSHIP REVEALED

"Isn't it a fact, Mr. Warner," Mitchell asked his November opponent, "that you belonged to a gun club until you got this bug in your bonnet and ran for supervisor?"

"Yes, I did," replied Warner, who led the ticket in the Aug. 30 primaries, "and I'm ashamed of having belonged to a gun club. I'm not trying to put you on the spot as a candidate . . . "

Supervisor Harry Riley's claim that repeal had not been asked by the water district "until about two months ago" brought a laugh from the district directors, who have opposed the ordinance from the start.

ONE "NO" VOTE

Mitchell's was the lone "no" vote on repeal of the ordinance, moved by Supervisor N. E. West and seconded by Riley, with Supervisor Steele Finley also voting "yes" on the repeal.

"I'm not in favor of waste of water," explained Mitchell as he voted against the repeal, "but I want to protect myself."

Mitchell, although assured by Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker he would not be personally liable if gun clubs were damaged by repeal of the ordinance, said he was afraid of lawsuits against him personally.

MENTON'S OPINION

Director William Wallop of the district asked that Menton's opinion be read. Menton, prodding supervisors with the observation that only two weeks ago the county board had refused to take his advice that an ordinance was invalid, held the licensing ordinance void.

Basing his conclusion on an Orange county case brought under the old prohibitory ordinance, Menton held that using water to flood ponds for the purpose of attracting ducks for hunters was "improper," and said even if the gun clubs used part of the water pumped properly, still the pond-flooding was illegal.

Frontier Fights, Russ Aid to Czechs Threat Peace Plan Breakdown

More See Fuehrer

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany. (AP)—Envoys of Hungary and Poland were received today by Reichsfuhrer Adolph Hitler in his retreat on Obersalzberg to discuss the Czechoslovak crsis.

The Hungarian chief of staff, Field Marshal Mresztes-Fischer sat with Premier Bela Imredi and Foreign Minister Koloman Von Kanya during their talk with Hitler and German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop "regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia."

MINORITIES INVOLVED

Poland's views were presented by Joseph Lipsi, Polish ambassador to Berlin, at another conference.

It was officially announced that the Hungarian statesmen had told Hitler they would stand firm for the right of self-determination for the 700,000 Hungarians in Czechoslovakia. It was understood the Polish ambassador discussed plans for dealing with the Polish minority of about 100,000.

The fact Imredi and Von Kanya were accompanied by the chief of staff added to the ominous character of their sudden flight from Budapest to Obersalzberg, where last Thursday the Fuehrer received Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain for their epochal meeting.

CZECH LATE ISSUE

The meeting took place in the German leader's home, Berkhof.

Germany's leader tonight appeared in the position of arbiter of Czechslovakia's fate.

The presence of the Hungarian chief of staff raised at least the possibility of a military encirclement of the little republic, especially if Poland agrees to such action.

Only a day or two ago both Poland and Hungary seemed to be on the fence. Although pressing the claims of their kinsmen in Czechoslovakia through their own press and radio, they seemed cautious about linking their causes too closely with that of Germany.

HITLER SITS TIGHT

Now, however, since Hitler has won a victory of prestige over the British and French premiers, there seems to be a rush to get on the loaded bandwagon.

Hitler has not stirred from Berghof since Chamberlain telegraphed him six days ago that he wanted to come to see him.

He merely has sat tight and events have been coming his way. Observers here believe that when the cards are dealt at Godesberg —where Hitler and Chamberlain may meet again tomorrow—Hitler would hold most of the trumps.

Conference Opens On Bay City Tieup

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—A conference opened today between CIO leaders and officials of the Association of San Francisco Distributors in efforts to work out a contract settlement of the dispute which tied up 120 warehouses.

The principal point at issue was a blanket contract for the industry proposed by the distributors, which the union membership had rejected six times.

'Nobody Will Stop Us,' Shouts Il Duce

UDINE, Italy. (AP) — Premier Mussolini tonight emphasized Italy's readiness for war without reference, however, to the perilous crisis in Czechoslovakia.

In a martial speech at Udine, which he described as the Italian "World war capital," Il Duce said that the Fascist march "is not yet finished and nobody will stop us!"

Mussolini, his voice hoarse, seemingly with indignation, shouted his scorn for foreign criticism of Italy.

"Evidently many foreigners preferred the Italy of another epoch," he roared. "Many foreigners whom we have every right to scorn believed the Italian people should exist simply to entertain people from other countries.

As Mussolini roared that Italy was ready for war, the crowd shouted back "immediately."

Mussolini bellowed back:

"I wish some gloomy foreigner eternally disconcerted in the face of Italian realism might have attended this demonstration and heard your shouts, which possess the rumble of a cyclone, of a hurricane."

"All this is finished irrevocably. We prefer to be feared, and hatred makes no difference to us because we scorn it."

Mussolini's words had been awaited anxiously for his reaction to the latest developments in the Czechoslovak crisis.

He avoided any direct reference to the central European situation, howeverd, not even mentioning his previously pronounced views on minority problems.

He spoke less than 20 minutes in a sabre - ratling talk that evoked constant cheering.

He declared it was time "the world became acquainted with this new, warlike and determined Italy."

This statement followed a comparison of Italy today with the Italy of 16 years ago, when he last spoke in Udine on the eve of the Fascist march on Rome to assume power.

ATTACKS MADE ON CZECH BORDER

PRAGUE. (AP)—Three attacks on Czechoslovak frontier customs houses by bands of men who were said to have crossed the border from Germany armed with machine guns, hand grenades and pistols were reported today by the Czechoslovak government.

The customs house at Klein-Aupa, near Aussig, was reported burned after being wrecked by a barrage of hand grenades. Two Czech officials were wounded.

At Ebersdorf near Friendland, government reports said, men who crossed the border shortly before dawn occupied the customs house for a time and broke into and took possession of the postoffice.

Czechoslovak offitials then returned their fire and a detachment of Czechoslovak gendarmerie finally dislodged the attackers from the two Ebersdorf buildings.

Six government officials were reported wounded and Czechoslovak officers said several of the invaders were hurt and dragged back across the boundary by their comrades.

NEW FEARS STIR FRANCE,

PARIS. (AP) — New uncertainty over the outcome of the Czechoslovak crisis today replaced the feeling in France that it was near solution through the simple process of giving way to Adolf Hitler's demand.

A Geneva report that Soviet Russia had promised aid should Czechoslovakia decide to fight developed the possibility of a major war regardless of the stand of Britain and France.

A second unsettling development was an all but unofficial Polish declaration that not Germany alone but Poland as well must be satisfied at Czechoslovakia's expense.

Coincident with a rising tide of "shameful admissions" in the French press that Premier Daladier's government had disgraced the country by accepting Hitler's demands, Finance Minister Paul Marchandeau warned the nation against hoarding and thus embarrassing the public treasury.

CZECHS ACCEPT IN PRINCIPLE

PRAGUE. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government announced tonight it had delivered its reply to Britain and France on their proposals to end the European crisis and that it considered the way was left open to further "diplomatic negotiations."

An unofficial but informed source said the note "is acceptance in principle but makes a number of important reservations."

The note replied to communications delivered Monday morning by the British and French ministers, embodying the agreement reached by the premiers of Britain and France in London Sunday.

RUSS AID FOR CZECHS LIKELY

GENEVA. (AP) — Czechoslovakia was reported today to have received a Soviet Russian promise of support if Germany tried to seize Sudetenland, but to have found in Rumania a possible barrier to such aid.

Sources close to the Russian delegation to the League of Nations said Moscow had informed Prague if Czechoslovakia would resist any German attack she would receive Soviet support.

War Still Possible

LONDON. (AP)—An outbreak of German-Czechoslovak frontier incidents and a reported Soviet Russian promise to help Prague resist attack threatened today to wreck the British-French plan for settling the conflict peaceably.

As border hostilities spread Great Britain was said to lack official information of the Czechoslovak government's stand on the joint British-French proposal to let Germany have the Sudeten areas.

INNER CABINET MEETS

In Geneva, there were reports that Moscow was supporting Prague.

During the day Prime Minister Chamberlain met with the "inner cabinet" which consists of Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, and Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

Charles Corbin, the French Ambassador, preceded him there. It was understood both saw Lord Halifax, who had left the "inner cabinet" prior to their arrival.

EXPLOSION FEARED

British officials maintained silence as to details of the British-French peace plan. Prime Minister Chamberlain is expected to take this "expedient surrender" back to Chancellor Hitler tomorrow at their second meeting, at Godesberg on the Rhine.

Despite the apparent decision of the British and French governments to stand aloof there was obvious concern at the possibility that their plan might fail to prevent an explosion.

The British labor party, aroused over apparent surrender in the face of Hitler's threats, demanded through Clement R. Attlee, leader of the labor opposition, that Chamberlain summon parliament immediately.

POLAND, HUNGARY BUSY

Poland and Hungary, meanwhile, were disclosed to have lodged claims with Britain for their own minorities in Czechoslovakia, before the British and French ministers yesterday adopted their plan for giving the Sudeten areas to Germany.

Informed sources said that the Polish envoy and the Hungarian minister last Friday notified the British government that they expected the same treatment for their minorities in Czechoslovakia as that accorded to Sudeten Germans.

LITTLE SETTLED

Now some British quarters studying the unofficial versions of Chamberlain's settlement, by which Czechoslovakia would give her Sudeten German areas to Germany, feel that it really settles very little and is neither equitable to Czechoslovakia nor honorable for Britain and France.

Neither, believe these commentators, will the premier be able to obtain the "consent of Czechoslovakia" before he departs for the second talk with Hitler, at Godesberg.

There was a possibility even that he might have to postpone the trip, if Czechoslovakia did not agree at least in principal with the Chamberlain plan to which the British and French cabinets have agreed.

A Merchant's Viewpoint On The Junior College

By SAM HURWITZ
Santa Ana Merchant

What tools in good condition mean to the mechanic, what the tractor and other modern equipment mean to the farmer, what an up-to-date store means to the merchant, proper school facilities are to the teacher and pupil. They mean greater production, maximum results.

How can the young man of today equip himself for a job in the new and coming industries such as air conditioning, Diesel engine, electrical refrigeration, or airplane manufacture when private industries can take only a very limited number of apprentices? Why should we not have an agricultural course in our junior college so that the young man who is poor and unable to attend the agricultural college at Davis, Calif., would be afforded the opportunity to train himself locally in order to meet present day competition in the field of agriculture?

A new junior college plant will provide these courses. The construction of the buildings will provide labor and the pay envelopes will go into the channels of local trade which will more than offset the $3 a year the average citizen will be asked to pay in the form of taxes. And what realtor does not use the sales argument of "fine schools"?

It is just as important to provide capital in the form of well trained and well educated men and women as it is to build factories and railroads. If no schools were maintained the effect on the economic life of our people would be disastrous.

But, in addition to the economic benefits, America must not curtail its educational opportunities for the common people. This, the world's model democracy, owes its success first to our Constitution—and next to our free educational institutions. If the schools were discontinued for one single generation our democracy would disappear.

While every one knows the value of our school system, there is an unpardonable lack of interest in a school bond election. The state's responsibility for the education of our children is so habitual, so matter of course, so thoroughly bound up in the course of affairs, that it does not seem to interest us.

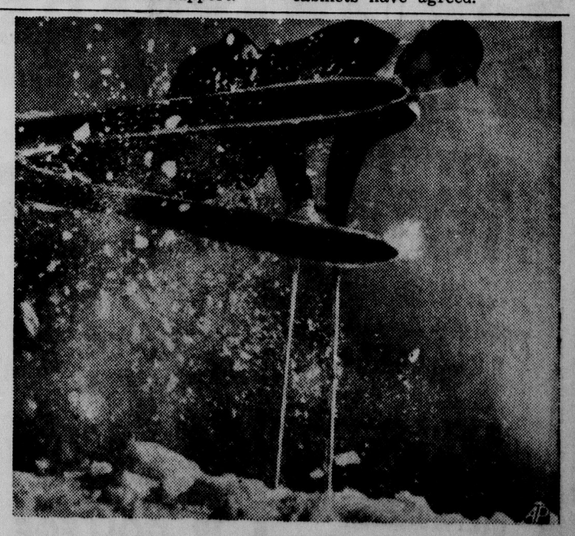

The few who hold the small addition in taxes above the welfare of our children are present in every community. They can defeat the bonds if YOU fail to vote. So I urge you to go to the polls next Friday and cast your favorable vote.

Remember that the ballot is the very thing through which we derive our liberty, that thousands of lives have been sacrificed in order that we may have the right to vote. This franchise is not something personal and inherent. It is a function conferred upon us by society and vitally affects every one. Your vote or my vote may be the deciding factor. DON'T NEGLECT IT.

Please bear in mind that we live by example and if this cherished right is to be passed on to posterity we must impress it in the hearts and minds of our children.

This is a school bond election. It is of keen interest to the younger generation which is to carry the message of democracy across to the next generation.

Set the example! VOTE FRIDAY — and VOTE "YES."

IS THAT WINTER coming around the bend, in not so many weeks? At least Skier Friede Pheifer, making a difficult turn on a steep slope of Mount Kosciusko in New South Wales, gives a pretty good forecast of a chill season to come.

Veterans of World War Parade Through L. A. Streets

CONVENTION TO RESUME WORK TOMORROW

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The greatest parade in the history of California got underway today as the American Legion, meeting here in its 20th annual convention, put business aside, forgot for the moment it was 20 years since the armistice released them, into civilian life, and strutted past the coliseum reviewing stand where National Commander Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, Mass., stood in an unshaded section and saluted them.

These were not the slender, supple soldiers and sailors who marched down Fifth avenue, New York, back in 1918, but the same men now grown portly, bald, grey and not so full of vim. Once each year these veterans of the World war take a deep breath, draw back their heads from double-chins and force themselves to believe they still are young men.

Promptly at 9 a. m. the parade, traversing the shortest route in Legion history, tramped up Figueroa street to the vast coliseum, circled the dirt track and marched out again to be dismissed from further labor today.

Again tomorrow, however, with all frivolity finished, the Legion again gets down to serious business ending Thursday with the election of Stephen Chadwick of Washington and the choosing of next year's convention city.

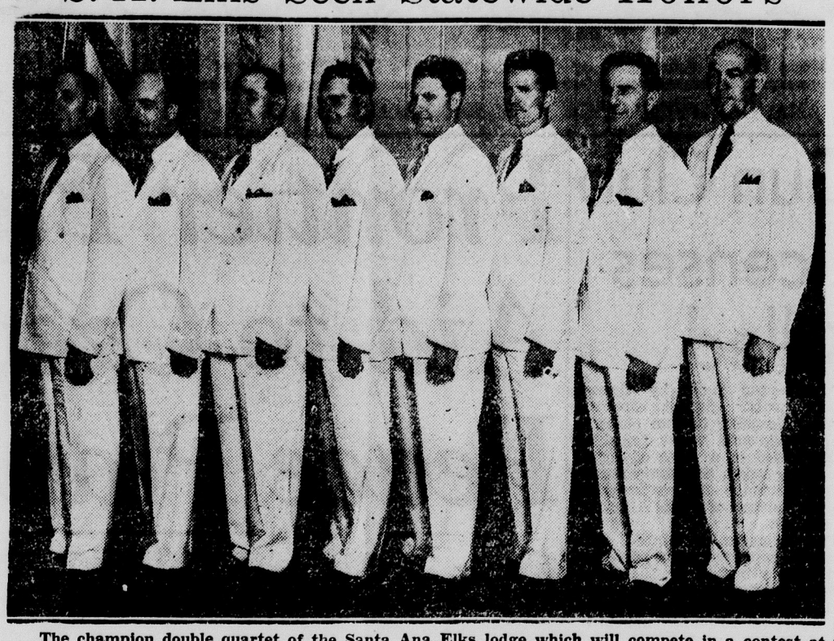

But even this had lost its lustre for Chadwick, without opposition will be named by acclamation and Chicago, also without opposition, already is known as the next convention city.

Foreign departments led the parade today with Mississippi, perenial U. S. department leader in the van of continental posts.

This year for the first time in recent conventions, floats gaudily decorated, lined the parade. Many were from Louisiana, one, representing the sugar bowl, brought a howl from the Californians who believe all save the Rose bowl are interlopers.

With the Louisiana delegation's rice city drum and bugle corps was the only triple baton twirler in the Legion. The parade, which because of the shortness of the route, will not approach last year's 24-hour invasion of Fifth avenue, was held under a hot brightly shining sun but even though there was no protection afforded for the spectators, newspapers were made up into parasols and with copius draughts of cold pop some measure of comfort was had.

The scene of this abortive endeavor, so my correspondent relates, was the old Faulkner house, located at the time on the northwest corner of what is now Fourth and Ross. The "'Old Pioneer' is to be commended for his persistency. He is still trying, on the theory, I presume, that sometime he will succeed, and the smile will be worth the time devoted to the effort. He asks my advice. Now some one has violated my confidence. In my day I tried the same system and got caught at it so many times I also remember. If my experience will be of any benefit to my friend I want to make this confession: That I've lived a long time, and the only thing I have learned in all that time is that I do not know how to play poker. The storm warnings were ordered up from Wilmington to Cape Hatteras and the weather bureau said "the storm will gradually turn toward the north northeast with the center passing some distance east of Cape Hatteras tonight."

S. A. QUARTET TO COMPETE IN STATE SESSION

The champion double quartet of the Santa Ana Elks lodge will seek statewide honors this week when it competes at Del Monte in a contest highlighting the Elks State Association convention.

The convention begins Thursday and concludes Saturday. An estimated 50 members from the Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., will be present at the convention, it was announced by Exalted Ruler Bill Garwin who will head the local delegation. The contest will be held at the Del Monte hotel.

The local quartet, which won first place in Denver a year ago at the national Elks convention, will participate with similar Elks musical groups from all parts of California. Miss Ruth Armstrong is accompanist and director of the double quartet.

Members of the quartet are Walt Vieira, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, John Miller, Hugh Runnels, G. W. Bassett, F. L. Gibbs, A. J. Garroway, and Lyle Anderson.

Rain, Tide Cause New Haven Flood

NE WHAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A torrential rainfall, abetted by one of the year's highest tides, flooded this city's streets today, and indications were that damage to stores and dwellings would reach serious proportions.

Several inches of water lay on the main floors of many stores at the city's principal intersection, church and chapel streets, than 12 inches under water

WIFE JAILED ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

Mrs. Irene Palacio, 32, was in the county jail today on perjury charges, as the fate of her husband went to a superior court jury which heard him tried on two morals charges.

The jury, in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, retired for deliberations shortly after 11:30 a. m., following a two-day trial of charges that Juan Palacio criminally assaulted a 12-year-old Santa Ana girl last March 5.

Mrs. Palacio was jailed by police on directions by Judge Ames that her testimony in the case be investigated and action taken.

The wife had testified on cross-examination yesterday that she told the little girl to say Palacio attacked her. She was "mad" at her husband, she explained, and wanted to get him in trouble.

That story, however, conflicted with other testimony in the case, which indicated the girl first had told her story to her grandmother, and with medical testimony that the child had been assaulted.

"If her statement (that the girl had been directed to tell the attack story) is true," said the court, "then Mrs. Palacio is guilty of perjury." He ordered Court Reporter Lecil Slaback to transcribe her testimony, and told Schutz to take action or he would send the case to the grand jury for an indictment against Mrs. Palacio.

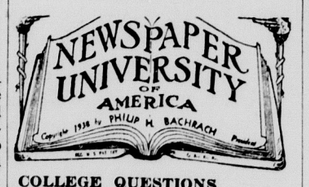

VOTERS PASS ON NEW DEAL

By The Associated Press

The success or failure of presidential efforts to defeat Chairman John J. O'Connor of the house rules committee was being determined today by voters of New York City's east side tenements and penthouses.

O'Connor, whom Mr. Roosevelt recently termed "one of the most effective obstructionists" in the house, sought both Democratic and Republican nominations for a ninth term.

The double contest was about the only one giving national aspect to today's primaries in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Wisconsin. It was the President's fourth—and final—attempt in this year's primaries to unseat lawmakers whom he called conservatives. He lost Democratic senatorial battles in South Carolina, Georgia and Maryland.

Skinny Tries to Interview 8-Footer, But Forgets to Take Along His Stepladder

By SKINNY SKIRVIN

Robert Wardlow, jr., who is eight feet, one-half inches high and still climbing, called at the Gallen-Kamp store this noon to see if he could get a shoe number 37, 19 inches long, and he couldn't.

If the weather didn't do it the inquiry from Wardlow started the perspiration down the brow of Manager Paul Sheffield. He mopped up, and took another look skyward and downward, then passed out, and it wasn't the end of a perfect day.

"Sky" Dunlap called yesterday. I'm just wondering now if "Sky" was adyvance agent or a sampler. Geo, you know I was born in Illinois about a couple of hundred miles from where Wardlow clamored for a place in the sun, and it just doesn't seem to me there should be that much difference in elongated accomplisment. Robert arrived at Alton, Ill., and a half-pint was squaling like a despeptic in some little country town near Quicy almost a half century before the arrived. Oh, well, I measure at 5-4 and weigh in around 112, which lacks considerable of 485 pounds and 8 feet and a half-inch high. But I should worry. I can get in places Wardlow can't and sometimes glad I can get out of them.

When Robert was six months old he weighed 30 pounds, and on his ninth birthday anniversary he was 6 feet one inch and weighed 180. That boy didn't waste any time putting on the avoirdupois.

I tried to interview him but forgot my stepladder. I said, "Bobby," swing low, sweet chariot, and when he reached the level of my acoustic, I was in one part of Paul's store and Wardlow in another.

Santa Ana Joins Nation in Observation of National Furniture Week

NEWEST IDEAS EXHIBITED BY STORES HERE

The romance in furniture is being envisaged this week nationally, from Sept. 17 to Sept. 24.

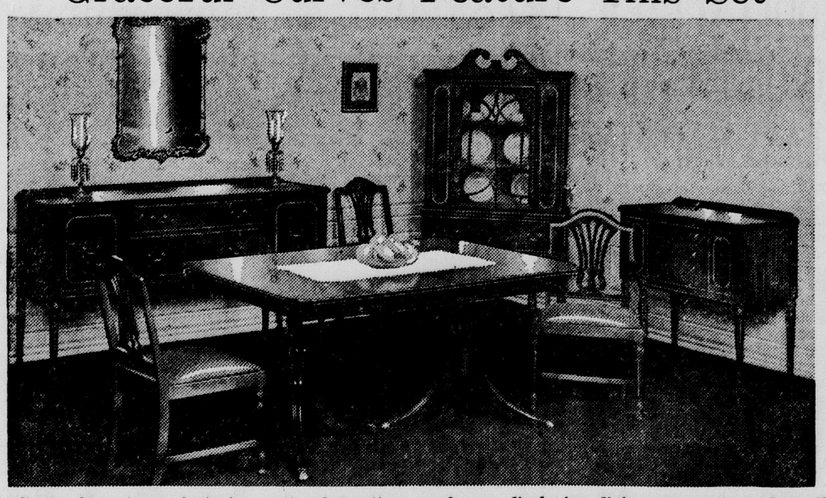

The public is taking a long glance at this industry and its creations from the days of the old cane-bottom chair down to the luxurious upholstered cushions which afford comfort and relaxation; from the old oaken bucket type of refrigeration down to the sanitary and even-temperatured mechanical regulation; from the old type hammock to everything modern in lawn equipment; from the crude to the aesthetic in living furniture, all involving construction with a view of economy and restfulness.

There isn't a department in furniture creations which has not made remarkable advancement from the manufacturers' standpoint. They have been alert to the homemakers demands and preferences. A visit to any furniture store reveals the amazing progress that has been made in this home art and convenience.

The spirit of the furniture industry is one of coordination, expressed in "National Furniture Week," in which all of the local stores are participating. For your approval everything for the home is displayed. Appliances and furniture creations may be inspected. Local dealers have entered actively into the special cooperation, and if there is customer amazement over the styles and prices it is not unexpected.

The local furniture dealers have gone to considerable extra work and expense to arrange their merchandise for this special week inspection. There wouldn't be any use going to this extra expense and work unless you favored the dealers with a visit. Therefore the invitation is extended the public both for edification, and the dealers assure you of a profitable investment.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Paul Gardner, young dynamic Townsend speaker will appear before Costa Mesa club No. 3 at 7:30 this evening as its speaker. He hails from Los Angeles and is a lecturer of unusual ability. He knows and believes in the Townsend plan program. He attended the Townsend party convention in Sacramento and will be full of information concerning that conclave. Mrs. Lena Burdick as president of this club issues a cordial invitation to attend and hear this young speaker. Mr. K. C. Burdick of this club was an attendant at the Santa Ana Townsend mass meeting Saturday night.

Santa Ana club No. 5 meets at 7:30 this evening in the Lowell school at South Flower and West Bishop streets for a business meeting. Walter B. Raugh, president will preside. Mrs. T. F. Cruzen of this club has served as pianist at the last two Saturday night mass meetings held in this city's Townsend hall.

Santa Ana club No. 8 is meeting at 7:30 this evening in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street for a business meeting with J. H. Nicholson, president in charge. W. J. Pickering of this club has been appointed by the writer to look after the securing of workers to contact the voters in Ward No. 2 of this city between now and election day.

John H. Weir came to Santa Ana as the speaker for the Townsend mass meeting held Saturday night in Townsend hall and found assembled to hear him approximately four hundred Townsend enthusiasts. The meeting began with a wonderfully pleasing concert given by the Costa Mesa Townsend Hill Billies orchestra of 30 minutes duration. These people play splendid music and are in much favor with the Townsendites. Mrs. Lena Burdick is their director.

Walter R. Robb, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speaker. Walter B. Raugh led the community singing accompanied by Mrs. T. F. Cruzen. In introducing the speaker, Robb told of his long experience as a public speaker and of the responsible places which Weir had filled since being with the Townsend movement.

Weir proved to be an interesting and entertaining speaker. He kept his audience in an almost constant state of merriment because of his humorous method of speaking and at the same time drove to his hearers a message of seriousness, Townsend in character. He was master of the situation from the beginning of his address to its end, even though a sprinkle of rain accompanied by an unusal display of lightning and thunder punctuated a considerable portion of the period he was speaking.

Mayor C. T. Johnson made a fine address on the subject of "Americanism" in a meeting held in his honor in Birch park by the Townsendites of Orange county, Sunday afternoon. Madame Mamie Stark and her accompanist Mrs. Evangeline Burnham gave a wonderful song program. The N. Y. A. band under the direction of T. Dunstan Collins began the program with a concert lasting an hour. Walter R. Robb, Orange county Townsend organizer was master of ceremonies. Rev. Everett E. Johnson, United Brethren church pastor offered the invocation. Ida A. Freeman of Anaheim led in the pledge to the flag and E. E. Proud of La Habra at the close of the meeting directed the audience in giving the Townsend pledge. Other guests on the platform included Mayor George V. Decker, Chino; Mr. E. G. Best, Tustin; Mrs. Laura Luty and R. B. Prost, Los Angeles; Walter B. Raugh, Mrs. T. F. Cruzen and L. C. Carlisle of Santa Ana.

This column is in receipt of a fine letter from A. M. Mapes and wife in which they describe a trip made through the New England states by auto. They visited many historical places, the details of which this column will not give because when they return it will be of interest to the Townsendites to hear the story fresh from the lips of these two fine friends. Mapes is having a great time in his work as speaker for the Townsend movement back there and he will be chuck full of things of interest to tell the Townsend clubs when he returns.

Santa Ana club No. 6 of which Mapes is president will meet at 7:30 this evening in the Community building of the First Christian church at West Sixth and North Broadway with E. M. Fuller, vice president in the chair. L. C. Carlisle, Townsend party candidate to the assembly will be present as speaker.

Oceanview club No. 1 members are reminded of their meeting being held tonight at 7:30 in the Oceanview school. W. T. Vandruff, president will preside. Daddy Ralston of this club will be in charge of getting precinct workers to contact the voters. Literature has been promised to be ready by Oct. 1.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Pierian club will meet with Mrs. G. W. Bond, 507 East Myrtle street instead of with Mrs. Tacker in Anaheim as was announced earlier. The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 in the afternoon.

MUSICIANS OF L. A. TO JOIN CONCERT HERE

Ranging from the German school of music to the Belgian, Spanish and Russian, the concert to be presented Thursday evening at the high school auditorium, opening the fall calendar of the Federal Music Project's Symphony orchestra, offers an expansive program.

orchestra under Leon Eckles' direction will play Von Weber's overture to "Euryanthe," a favorite with concert goers. Then follows Cesar Franck's "Symphony in D Minor" hich holds an indisputable place in the world's album of great music as one of the most inspired, spell binding and majestic symphonic scores ever written.

Edwin Geber will make his debut as cello soloist.

Upton Sinclair, Literary 'Old Man,' Runs On and On; Celebrates 60th Birthday

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Slender, mild-mannered Upton Sinclair celebrated his sixtieth birthday today with the publication of his sixtieth book, a novel entitled "Little Steel."

A prophet of social justice for more than 30 years, Sinclair has become a sort of literary "old man river." He keeps rolling along. Lincoln Steffens is dead. Jack London died back in 1916. Others of the historic so-called "muckraking" school have passed on—or else turned to less controversial endeavors. But Sinclair, no longer a "muckraker" in the old sense, is still a critic of the existing order.

Publishers' notes indicate there have been translations and foreign editions of Sinclair's works in 47 languages and 39 countries, totaling 772 titles. Sinclair believes no living writer can approach this record, and that more than 10,000,000 Sinclair books are in existence, despite burnings and bannings in Fascist Europe.

Placid-faced and smiling at the tide of history that has borne out many of his objectives and predictions, Sinclair lives in semi-retirement here in a spacious, rambling one-story house among trees. In this environment, he has written eight books and three plays since 1934, when he ran a close race for governor of California on the Epic ticket.

Sinclair still believes his gubernatorial plan of production-for-use for the unemployed may be adopted nationally before he stops writing. His proposal was that the unemployed be supplied with facilities to produce and trade their own goods among themselves.

RADIO IN TRASH PILE

An old-fashioned three-dial radio, found in a trash pile at Magnolia and Cerritos avenues, was taken to the sheriff's office yesterday while deputies and Anaheim police attempted to trace its ownership. C. L. Pedley, rancher, said small boys found the radio. Anaheim police theorized it had been thrown from a passing car.

Sales of American-produced condensed milk to Czechoslovakia jumped 300 per cent the first half of 1938 compared with 1937.

HOMECOMING OF J. C. ALUMNI OPENS OCT. 28

Week of October 28 will be Homecoming week for hundreds of Santa Ana Junior college alumni.

According to plans being worked out by President Otto Grigg of the Alumni association, this will be the first such event the association has sponsored.

"We chose this particular week," President Grigg said, "because the Dons play San Bernardino J. C. on Friday, Oct. 28, and we expect many of the alumni on hand."

If this first Homecoming Week is successful, Grigg indicated, it will be made an annual affair. A meeting of the association heads will be called in the near future when plans will be mapped out.

Officers of the association besides President Grigg include Clyde Files, vice president; Helen Pierce, secretary; Violet Bartholomew, executive secretary; and John Haskell, treasurer.

At least 64 chemical elements are present in soil and 58 of these have been found in plants, says U. S. Chemist W. O. Robinson.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Job-Hunter

As a college instructor, G. B. Holmes of Santa Ana Junior college holds a dual position. He teaches his classes every morning, then spends his afternoons job-hunting.

* * *

Holmes has been hunting, and finding, jobs for the past three years—not for himself, but for students in the secretarial training, accounting and merchandising classes of the commerce department.

* * *

The college placement bureau which he operates single-handed had its first test under fire, beginning at a time when the word "depression" was on every tongue. Even though the unemployment problem was acute, he managed to find jobs for several trained students—and he has continued to do so ever since.

* * *

He's found office jobs for his students in schools, utilities, stores, insurance offices, lumber companies, lawyers' offices, real estate and insurance offices, laundries, bakeries, automobile agencies, banks, newspapers, county chambers of commerce, various city and county offices.

* * *

He can't guarantee students jobs, but he aims to assist as many as possible in getting employment. Holmes says the community has absorbed most of last year's secretarial graduates, employing them along the lines for which they were specifically trained.

* * *

Holmes keeps in constant touch with city and county business firms, talks with employers to find out what they think of college students, what students should know to fill certain jobs. Last year he sent nearly 500 letters looking for openings.

* * *

He makes daily contacts with business men, finding out where jobs are open and seeking to get jaysee students employed. Holmes carries a full load of classes, so his additional job-hunting duties keep him on the go.

* * *

The college began offering the commercial courses about 10 years ago. Secretarial training came first, with accounting and merchandising courses following. There are now five teachers in the department, some conducting classes numbering as many as 80 students.

* * *

The courses train students for special lines, are elastic enough to fit individual needs. Practically all are "terminal" courses intended to fit students for jobs right away. Majority of those taking the courses, Holmes says, hope to land jobs right after graduation.

* * *

While such training has been offered for a decade, the department did not begin finding jobs for those it trained until February, 1937.

* * *

Since that date, Holmes figures, at least 75 secretarial graduates alone have been placed, with about an equal number finding jobs "on their own." Holmes feels it is preferable for a student to find his own job if possible, rather than depend upon the placement bureau.

* * *

In the last 10 years, hundreds of students trained for jobs by the commerce department have found work in Santa Ana, while many have found jobs in Los Angeles and along the coast.

* * *

Holmes declares there is hardly an office in Santa Ana employing more than one person where a junior college graduate cannot be found. Santa Ana is a "home" town, he finds, and most of the graduates seek jobs in their own community.

* * *

He judges there are roughly 500 persons trained in the commerce department during the last 10 or 12 years who are now working in Santa Ana. There have been but two or three failures, Holmes declares. Reason nearly all succeed is because they are given special training for their jobs.

* * *

Holmes emphasizes that his students are a balanced product. While they are taking specialized training aimed to prepare them for jobs in the business world, commerce students must take their full share of regular academic courses—science, literature, histories and the rest.

* * *

Most employers are considerate when hiring new help, give the newcomers plenty of time to get adjusted to new surroundings. One bank, Holmes says, always puts a new girl virtually by herself for a week or so, giving her enough work to keep her occupied. When the nervousness and fright of the new job wears off, she's given her regular duties.

* * *

Holmes has plenty of unsolicited testimonials from employers of students placed by the jaysee bureau. A local firm says it employed four jaysee students last year, promised to hire more as the need arises.

* * *

You'd think Holmes' job would be done after teaching students, then trying to find jobs for them. But he keeps in touch with a student after he or she has been placed. If they meet any difficulty, Holmes studies the situation, perhaps changes his classroom instruction to prevent others from meeting the same difficulty.

* * *

The placement bureau has met virtually any demand for office workers. Hardest order to fill is for boys with knowledge of shorthand. Ten such calls received last year could not be filled.

COUNCIL HOLDS HEARING ON BIG PROGRAM

NEWPORT BEACH. — Approved in a final public hearing conducted by the city council last night, plans for the $577,272 city-wide improvement project were definitely underway today.

A bond election for $325,000, the city's share of the cost of the PWA project, was set for Oct. 17, with final approval of the date slated at the next meeting of the council Monday night.

A two-thirds vote will be necessary to carry the election.

Applications for PWA grants already have been filed for the project which includes:

(1) Construction of a city hall for Newport Beach.

(2) Balboa ocean front improvements, including a 1000-car parking lot.

(3) Community hall and recreational center at Corona Del Mar.

(4) Improvements to Newport pier.

(5) New water mains from wells to water reservoirs; new booster pumping station. Improved fire-fighting facilities on Balboa island also are included.

(6) New sewer mains on Central avenue from Alvardo street to Via Lido street.

The single plan of development was recommended to the city council by the city planning commissioners, following several weeks' study.

INSTITUTE ON MARKETING IS SET OCT. 7

Record attendance was predicted today for the Economic and Marketing institute Oct. 7 in Anaheim, where Orange county growers will hear latest information on economic factors affecting agricultural returns.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg said the institute, sponsored by the agricultural extension service, would hear Dr. H. R. Wellman, University of California citrus economist, defend the prorate program.

Future of transportation problems will be analyzed by J. J. Deuel, director of the law and utility department of the state farm bureau federation. The two speakers will be heard during the morning session, scheduled for 9:30 a. m. in the Anaheim High school; the afternoon session will be devoted to answering current questions on economic and marketing probems.

Orange County Beekeepers Auxiliary members glowed with pride today over the Los Angeles county fair. Out of 20 Orange county entries, 19 won prizes.

The entries were in the honey cookery department, with all foods sweetened wholly or in part with honey. Winners of first prizes were:

Mrs. Anna G. Heitshusen of Olive, best display of fruits, jams and jellies; Mrs. H. J. Crawford, best display of candies; the auxiliary, best display of cakes, pies and bakery goods; Mrs. Naomi Schultz of Orange, divinity fudge.

Mrs. C. E. Lush, drop cookies and oatmeal cookies; Mrs. W. Leroy Bell of Villa Park, raisin nut bread; Mrs. E. B. Workman of Orange, white bread.

Winners of second prizes included Mrs. Bell, cup and chocolate cake; Mrs. R. K. Bishop of Orange, apple pie; Mrs. C. O. Heim of Olive, drop cookies; Mrs. Workman, raisin nut bread. Mrs. H. J. Crawford is chairman of the organization.

LIVEWIRES OF TUSTIN WIN 10 PRIZES AT FAIR

Enviable records in winning prize money awards at the Los Angeles county fair were hung up by Orange county 4-H club members, Assistant Farm Advisor Ross Crane reported today.

Leading the entire county was the Tustin Livewires, 4-H girls who came home with 10 first prizes, seven second prizes, six third and one fourth award for home furnishing and clothing entries. Mrs. G. D. Griset is leader of the group.

Individual winners included Mike Nahamara, Betty Chapman, Marie Farnsworth and Dorothy Leonard. Several other Tustin girls were listed in the individual entry list as were Nora Linnartz of Olive and Ruth Davis of Anaheim.

Boys who won prizes:

Livestock, Bud Hein of Anaheim; Dale Heil of Midway City; Elton Roberson and Sam Bandlin of Brea and Charles Shoemaker of Tustin. This group brought home a total of $69 in prize money.

Bon Wardlow of Brea, August Howley of La Habra, Hollis Lawson of Brea, Keith Bales of Brea and Albert Farrington of La Habra won awards for rabbits.

Boys who won prizes on the pigeons they showed included Joe Leib of Anaheim and Donald Rails of Santa Ana.

OPPONENTS OF SEWER BONDS WIN ELECTION

BUENA PARK. — Two opponents of the proposed $30,000 sewer bond issue to be voted on next Tuesday unseated two veteran members of the Buena Park sanitary district board yesterday.

Losers were W. D. Cannon, president of the board, which had served two terms, and H. E. Warren, who had been a member of the board since the district was formed.

Winners were Mrs. Hattie Allen and W. B. Renne. Five candidates were in the field, the fifth one being H. C. Welch. The vote was: Mrs. Allen, 253; Renne, 229; Cannon, 200; Warren, 206; and Welch, 95.

A total of 510 ballots were cast, considerably under 50 per cent of the district's qualified voters. The outcome was regarded locally as indicating possible defeat of a proposed bond issue. Mrs. Allen was active in opposing some features of the plan to construct a sewage disposal plant, for which the bonds would be voted.

She and Renne pooled their efforts in running for the directors posts.

HOME IS ENTERED

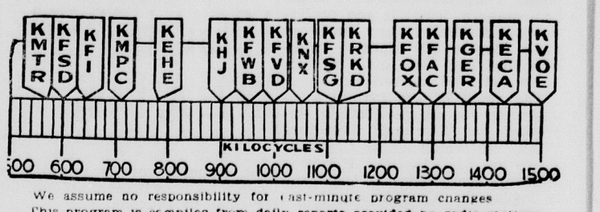

The home of P. M. Racobs, 1122 Cypress, was ransacked yesterday. Some of the furniture was turned upside down, but nothing was found missing, it was reported to police.

"I still can't understand why that little one cost twice as much as this big one!"

DRUNK DRIVING ADMITTED BY TWO IN COURT

Two drunk drivers pleaded guilty in Santa Ana city court yesterday and were committed in the county jail in lieu of furnishing $150 fines.

They were Fred Joe Romero, 317 Garfield streets, and Ygnacio Flores, 2114 West Fifth street.

Acting Judge John Landell of San Juan Capistrano, presiding while Judge J. G. Mitchell is vacationing, fined three others on drunk charges and nine for traffic violations.

James Green, Los Angeles, was committed in the county jail in lieu of paying a $15 fine on a drunk charge; Eugene Sherfy, 617½ East Pine street, was given a $15 work order after pleading guilty to drunkenness, and O. L. Maxwell, 2021 South Main street, paid a $10 fine on charges of intoxication.

Fined $1 each for overtime parking were Roch Bradshaw, 1147 South Parton street; Mrs. Gene Hansen, John Bruns, Ralph Adams, 1403 West Ninth; J. Light, 1021 North Lowell, Mrs. C. B. McCoy, 1702 West Eighth street.

John H. Eudy, Santa Ana, was fined $5 for failure to make a boulevard stop. Paul West, 1217 West First street, was given a $2 work order after being cited on failure to change the address on his operators' license; Mrs. H. Mollen, 620 East Washington, paid a $1 fine for double parking.

Cold Caught When Fishing Is Fatal

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A cold he caught while fishing had led to the death today of Harry C. Strachan, 68, executive secretary of the department of investments, California Division of Corporations, and a former newspaper man, of pneumonia.

COUNTY WAGON LOOTED

Another county road department trap wagon was burglarized over the week-end, sheriff's officers reported today. Taken by thieves some time between Saturday noon and yesterday morning were 95 gallons of gasoline, half a drum of oil, a length of chain and two padlocks. The wagon was parked at La Palma and Miller roads.

Where Comfort and Beauty Meet

National furniture week, in which Santa Ana merchants are participating, brings the display of such modern furniture as this.

Pauline Frederick, Former Star of Stage, Dies in L. A.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Stately Pauline Frederick, once great star of the stage, is dead

The end came suddenly yesterday when she was stricken by an acute attack of asthma, which weakened her heart. A physician, summoned by Mrs. Carrie Pettengill, an aunt with whom the actress lived, called a fire department inhalator squad.

The woman whom artist Harrison Fisher once described as "the purest type of American beauty," was 53. She went on the stage when she was 14, to the unending regret of her father, Richard C. Libbey of Boston. He disinherited her when he died 16 years ago.

Miss Frederick had been married five times. Her last husband, Col. Joseph A. Marmon, died four years ago.

JACKSON SUIT SET OCT. 3

Notice that the county's $75,000 lawsuit against Sheriff Logan Jackson will be tried Oct. 3 was filed today in superior court by Judge Frank Drumm, attorney for the sheriff.

The notice was also mailed to Edgar B. Hervey of San Diego, special attorney hired by the board of supervisors to bring the county's claim against the sheriff in the "fee squabble" which started with adoption of the county salary ordinance last fall.

The trial date was set by Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen, and unless it is transferred the case will fall in the court of Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

Soil Conservation Will Be Discussed

Provisions of state and federal soil conservation district acts will be discussed Thursday night at a property owners' meeting in farm bureau offices.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, said all property owners were invited to hear about the acts, which provide the legal means for carrying on soil conservation practices in a community way.

30-DAY SENTENCE

Raymond Orosco, 28, Anaheim, was booked in the county jail by Anaheim police yesterday to serve a 90-day sentence for drunkenness, imposed in Anaheim city court.

COURT RULES ON NOTE CASE

A Latin phrase meaning in effect "you're both in the same boat" was invoked yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, in denying a suit by Charles S. Kelley, Santa Ana druggist, to cancel a $1675 note given the First National bank.

The court found both parties "in pari delicto."

Kelley sued for cancellation of the note and return of $1050 he says he paid on it, claiming the bank was not entitled to accept the note because it was additional consideration for a building loan involving Home Owners' Loan corporation bonds. The Home Owners' Loan act, claimed Kelley's attorney, Ridley C. Smith, prohibits acceptance of additional consideration and provides penalties if banks do so.

Judge Scovel ruled, however, that if the bank was not entitled to accept the note Kelley was not entitled to give it, either, and ordered that matters remain as they were. Stanley Reinhaus and R. M. Crookshank appeared for the bank at yesterday's trial.

PARTITION SUIT FILED

Suit to partition an unimproved lot was brought today in superior court by Alfred Gitelson, against Vera Gitelson. The plaintiff said he had offered to buy out the other joint owner, but claims she refused. He asks the court to determine their interests, order a sale and divide the proceeds.

'FOOLS RUSH IN' QUIZ DELAYED TO WEEK-END

Continuing its investigation of the "Fools Rush In" political pamphlet case, the specially-called county grand jury remained in session slightly over one hour yesterday afternoon, then adjourned to meet again some time this week.

Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen, attacked in the pamphlet and who successively refused and then acceded to a request for impanelment of the grand jury, was closeted with the inquisitors for 15 minutes after he was called into the jury room. He emerged and went into conference later with jury representatives in his chambers.

Foreman William Schumacher said after the session that the jury had again adjourned subject to his call, but said he expected the group would gather again later this week.

During yesterday's session, newsmen noticed two men closeted with the jury who apparently were not members of the investigating body. Reports were current at the courthouse that two undercover investigators had been engaged to ferret out evidence in the libelous pamphlet case.

NEW PLAY AT PADUA IS ENJOYABLE

Versatility of the Mexican Players of Padua Hills theater, both as talented thespians and as gracious entertainers, strikingly is demonstrated in the present production of "Rancho Tapatio," a romantic comedy of Jalisco, judging by the comments of visitors.

In the first place, the audience has the opportunity to judge them both as motion picture stars and stage players at one and the same time, since a motion picture production featuring the same players appearing behind the footlights is screened on the stage as part of the action of the play.

During the dinner hour preceding the presentation of the play, the young Mexican senors and senoritas entertain the diners with native songs and dances of Mexico.

In one scene of the stage production, the players, in the roles of hosts and hostesses, serve chocolate and bunuelos, or Mexican cakes, to distinguish visitors.

Immediately following the performance, a "merienda," or Mexican after-the-theater party, is staged in the dining room, and the same players demonstrate that they can be as gracious off as on stage in serving the chocolate and bunuelos to the theater patrons.

Visitors who never miss a stage production at Padua state that the current play is one of the most novel in the history of the Mexican Players in that it demonstrates the naturalness with which they revive the customs of their native land regardless of setting or situation.

SAN DIEGANS ARE ENTERTAINED

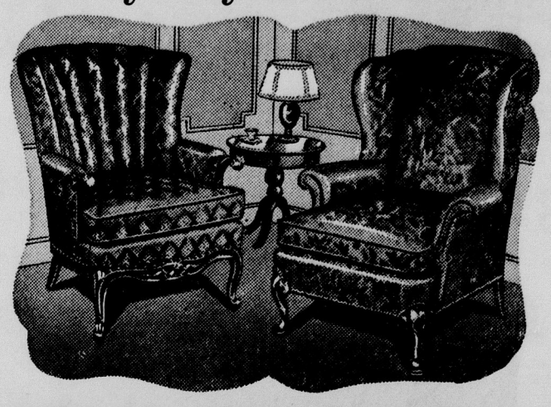

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Cavan and Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Carter have been guests in the Charles Rumell home, 702 South Van Ness street, during the past week.

The two men, who are attending the Legion convention in Los Angeles, are prominent members of the San Diego post, where Dr. Covan is commander. They were guests at a smart dinner party at which the John J. Vernons were hosts Saturday evening.

ANNOUNCEMENT

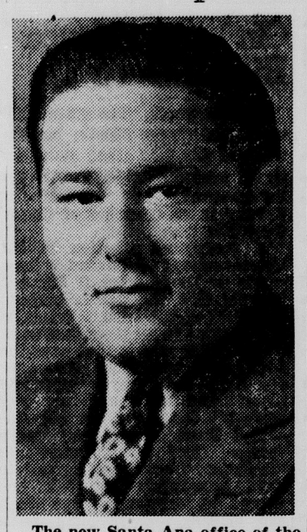

North East section of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Cora Rugg, 2029 Bush street, for a garden party, scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. All attending are asked to bring labels.

Beauty Keynote of Chairs

Santa Ana stores, participating in national furniture week, are exhibiting the newest developments in home equipment and furniture. Pictured here are wing and barrel chairs, combining beauty, comfort.

Globe Opens

The new Santa Ana office of the Globe Investment company, 101 North Main street, was opened today under the management of Bill Ness (above), formerly of Los Angeles. O. S. Pattiz, president of the company, said today that he had long desired to open an office here. Ness is long experienced in the business.

PENSION PLAN TO BE TOPIC

The pros and cons of the $30 every Thursday pension plan will be discussed at the town meeting tonight.

Prof. L. L. Beeman will present the provisions in detail and the arguments for and against. The meeting will then be thrown open to the proponents and opponents of the plan for free discussion.

In addition to the discussion of the California pension plan, the new junior college plan will be laid before the meeting by Dr. Margarete Baker of the school board, who will answer questions concerning the project.

The meeting opens at 7:45 with a piano recital played by William Beeman. No admission is charged.

"Climate" as you want it
...with automatic gas heat

Prepare now for Winter!
Cost is small—Basement not necessary
NEVER too hot, never too cold, but just right all winter long—that's the kind of "weather" you can have in your home with adequate gas equipment. Dampness on walls is prevented, too, and you need not be continually turning heat up and down.
For the best gas appliances bring you two forms of weather control: they can reduce humidity and they automatically maintain any degree of warmth you want. In addition, they circulate fresh air, drawing the air from the outside, warming it and sending it through the room.
Don't let another season go by without having the healthful, convenient comfort of automatic gas heat. Now is the time to act! See a dealer or the gas company.

TWO deservedly popular appliances for automatic heat: gas floor furnace (floor register, wall or dual-register type) and vented gas circulating heater. Each is available with thermostat. Both are extremely economical to buy and to operate. (Easy terms, too.) Neither requires a basement.

Look for the Blue Star Seal of Approval on every gas appliance you buy.
BEFORE COLD WEATHER ACTUALLY ARRIVES—avoid the rush that accompanies the first "cool spell." Have your present heating equipment inspected to make certain that it is in proper working order.

50 NEW HOME LAUNDRIES IN USE LOCALLY

Last fall the Turner Radio Co., 221 West Fourth street, brought to Santa Ana the Bendix Home Laundry.

They announced that the Bendix would bring to Santa Ana homes workless washdays, and that it would wash, rinse and damp-dry clothes without the user ever putting hands in water.

Since the initial announcement, however, hundreds have seen this "successor to the old time washing machine" demonstrate everything said about it is absolutely true in every way, and also have found out the Bendix Home Laundry washes clothes automatically, uses less hot water and less soap. Today half a hundred Bendix Home Laundry machines have been sold and installed in as many homes in Santa Ana.

One Santa Ana owner reports: "My washing is now all on the line by 9 a. m. instead of 11:30." Another says: "My Bendix does in three loads what used to take five in my old washer," and still another owner of the Bendix states: "I am enthusiastic about the Bendix, because the lifting of heavy wet sheets from the washer to the wringer is all eliminated."

The Turner Co. extends an invitation to any man or woman to come to see the Bendix Home Laundry in action.

In the Well Designed Living Room

Here's a three-piece ensemble, similar to many sets being exhibited by Santa Ana stores now, during national furniture week. Comfort and long wear are promised by such sets as this, the feature of a well laid out living room.

DRAMA, LAUGHS ON TWIN BILL

A double feature program with two more of the $250,000 Movie Quiz contest hit pictures, "I Am the Law," and "The Gladiator," comes to the screen of the Broadway theater today.

Played against the background of a city, "I Am the Law" stars Edward G. Robinson as a mild-mannered professor of law who turns into a gang-busting, fighting prosecutor.

Otto Kruger is the smooth czar of the racketeers. The story concerns the idealistic aim of a law professor to rid the city of murderous gangsters. His chief encouragement comes from Kruger, a supposedly respectable citizen.

One of Robinson's graduate attorneys, played by John Beal, is enlisted by the prosecutor as his aide. He is Kruger's son, although ignorant of his father's true character. Barbara O'Neil is seen as a helper of her professorial husband in his campaign, while Wendy Barrie is a feminine adjutant to Kruger.

An orgy of crime ensues as a result of the campaign and this is only halted when Robinson enlists modern science, as represented by motion pictures, on his side.

The wide-mouthed comedian, Joe E. Brown, is seen as a scientifically-created superman in his newest comedy opus, "The Gladiator." Returning to college as a sophomore, Joe soon becomes the innocent subject of a professor's experiment in increasing the normal human strength. He soon becomes a national sensation. The cast includes such players as June Travis, Robert Kent, Lucien Littlefield and others.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

Isaiah's words, "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth; but the word of our God stand stand for ever," were the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Matter" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

A Scriptural selection in the lesson-sermon presented these words of David from II Samuel: "As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried; he is a buckler to all them that trust in him. For who is God, save the Lord? and who is a rock, save our God? God is my strength and power: and he maketh my way perfect." Another citation included these verses from Paul's epistle to the Philippians: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprended: but this one thing I do, forgetting things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of Spirit."

S. A. CHAMBER DELAYS ACTION ON BEACH BUY

Directors of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce yesterday deferred action on a resolution from the Huntington Beach chamber asking the state to purchase a strip of beach frontage for public use.

Action was deferred until after the next meeting of the Associated chambers of commerce. The directors also postponed action on the indigent study until after an economic conference of Southern California to be held in Los Angeles Saturday.

A protest from Mrs. F. M. Holliday against prevalence of mosquitoes in Orange county was referred to the county health department without action.

Request by the Ananeim Hallowe'en festival and horse show for an entry from Santa Ana was referred to the city promotion and advertising committee.

SAFETY DRIVE UNDER WAY IN S. A. SCHOOLS

Santa Ana school children will be more safety conscious in the next month and a half as the result of an intensive essay and speech contest on safety which is being sponsored by the Santa Ana Safety Council.

Through Chairman Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, the elementary and junior high schools along with the senior high school will compete in the contest. Prizes amounting to $60 in cash will be awarded for the winners, it was announced.

Aside from the essay contest, competition will also be held for the best speaker on the general topic of safety. The winning speaker will address various service groups, and other organizations.

At the high school the essay division is being conducted through the English department under the direction of Miss Levenia Scott, department head.

All students in the schools are eligible to enter the competition regardless of age or grade, it was announced. Dr. Roy Horton, member of the commission, is also aiding in the contest.

FOOTE HEADS COACH ASS'N

Coach Bill Foote of Santa Ana High school was elected president of the Orange County Coaches association last night when the group met at the local high school. He replaces Coach Reece H. Greene who asked that a successor be appointed in his place. Coach Greene had just begun his term.

All coaches of the county high schools were in attendance, including class B and C mentors. Discussion was held on rules and schedules for B's and C's, but no definite action was taken on rules, it was reported.

A joint meeting with officials at Pomona may be held within the next two weeks, it was announced.

L. A. MAN BOOKED

Sentenced in San Clemente to a 10-day term for assault, William T. Hawkins, 50, Los Angeles, was booked in the county jail yesterday afternoon.

WOMEN TO AID CHEST DRIVE; CHIEF NAMED

Organization of women volunteers for the Annual Community Chest campaign is being carried forward under the leadership of Mrs. E. T. McFadden as residential division chairman, according to the announcement today by Orlyn N. Robertson, general campaign charman.

Mrs. McFadden announced that four colonels will assist her in organizing and directing the activities of more than 300 volunteer workers who will be enrolled in this department of the campaign. The colonels, each of whom will be assigned a section of the city, are: Mrs. Ray Adkinson, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mrs. C. F. Smith and Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon, jr. A meeting of residential colonels and their majors will be held at Mrs. McFadden's home, 2121 Greenleaf, at 4 p. m. Wednesday to lay further plans for the activities of this department of the campaign.

Each of the residential colonels is enrolling six majors, each of whom will subdivide the work of her district among eight captains and lieutenants.

Presidents and executive secretaries of the eight charity and welfare organizations composing the Community Chest meet at 4 p. m. today at campaign headquarters, 215 East Fourth street, to plan an educational program.

Newell Vandermast will preside as program chairman tonight. President Wylie Carlyle will conduct the meeting.

Two Men Confess Killing Lawmaker

CHICAGO. (AP)—State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney announced today two men had confessed the slaying Dec. 29, 1935, of State Representative Albert J. Prignano at the threshold of his home in the "bloody twentieth" ward.

Prignano, Democratic committeeman of the twentieth ward and representative of the seventeenth senatorial district, was shot dead by three men as he returned home from a family party with his wife, 8-year-old son and his mother-in-law.

SMALL USER SPARED UNDER NEW SCHEDULE

In a stormy session last night, the city council abandoned a proposed increasing minimum water rates from $1 to $2 and gave first reading to a substitute measure increasing water rates on a graduated scale.

While Councilman Joe Smith continued his opposition to any increase whatever in the water rate, the council voted four to one to give the first reading to the substitute measure presented by Councilman Plummer Bruns.

Second and final hearing will be held next Monday night.

Bruns, in offering the ordinance, said the small water user would be taxed only in proportion to the amount of water used, and that it would be a more equitable way of increasing water rates.

(Purpose of the increases is to raise $50,000 for Santa Ana's share of repair expenses on the joint outfall sewer line).

Councilman Smith and Bruns clashed when Bruns refused to answer a question put by Smith on the grounds the latter was water commissioner and should know the answer. Both exchanged criticism on "publicity seeking," while Bruns told Smith that although he is water commissioner it does not give him full authority over that department. Smith answered that he hadn't assumed any.

Bruns' proposed ordinance provides that the minimum charged on each tap or meter would be increased 25 cents and a five cent increase charged on each 100 cubic feet of water used.

Bruns declared there are 9036 water users in Santa Ana, and that 7246 of them use less than the $1 minimum of 1000 cubic feet. The previous proposed ordinance which would have increased the $1 minimum to $2 would have fallen hardest on the 7000 small water users, Bruns said.

The graduated scale, he pointed out, would be a more equitable way of handling the increase and would leave the small user in the lower brackets, shifting the burden to a large extent to the big water user.

Councilman Smith, explaining his objects further after the meeting, declared the rates under the proposed new ordinance would represent a huge increase over the present rates.

He pointed out that the present $1 minimum guarantees the consumer at least 1000 cubic feet of water. The $1.25 minimum, he said would not give the consumer a drop of water until the rate of 5 cents per hundred were paid, making it $1.75.

He said the present rate of 10 cents on the first 4000 cubic feet would jump to 15 cents, the rate of eight cents on the next 21,000 feet would jump to 13 cents, and the seven cent rate for all beyond 21,000 would be increased to 12 cents.

The first proposal to increase the water rate by boosting the minimum from $1 to $2 was first presented to the council several weeks ago. It passed first reading, but failed second reading. The ordinance was re-offered with the emergency clause stricken out, passed first reading and was to have had second reading by the council last night when Bruns made the surprise move and presented the substitute ordinance.

TURKEY MEN MEET FRIDAY

"Turkey mortality" — timely around Thanksgiving day—will be discussed before Southern California turkey growers Friday in Pomona.

Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor, urged Orange county turkey growers to attend the meeting, called by the Associated Turkey Growers of Southern California for the agricultural extension office in the Pomona postoffice for 10 a. m.

Officers will be elected and the coming turkey marketing season will be discussed. Dr. W. R. Hinshaw of the University of California will make a "progress report on turkey mortality research."

County C. E. Plans Convention Here

The Orange County Christian Endeavor union is laying preliminary plans for its 50th annual convention to be held in Santa Ana March 13, 14 and 15.

More than 3000 persons are expected to attend. The chamber of commerce has been asked to assist in finding a meeting place for the convention.

PENSION PLAN TEXT TELLS DUTIES OF ADMINISTRATOR

(Because of widespread public interest in the issue, and because most readers have not had an opportunity to study the plan in full, this newspaper will present in nine articles the complete text of the $30 A Week For Life Pension Plan. The second installment follows.—Editor's Note.)

Section 7. The Administrator shall cause to be engraved and printed and issued certain serially numbered warrants of the State of California which shall be known as "RETIREMENT COMPENSATION WARRANTS of the State of California"; and he shall cause to be engraved and printed and issued certain serially numbered revenue stamps which shall be known as Warrant Redemption Stamps." Said warrants shall be non-interest bearing, self-liquidating, negotiable and transferable without endorsement. Said warrants shall be in the denomination of one dollar ($1.00) each and the total numbers of warrants issued shall at all times be limited to the requirements of this article as hereinafter provided. Said warrant redemption stamps shall be in the denomination of two cents each and they shall be issued in quantities ample and sufficient to provide for the warrant redemption requirements of this article as hereinafter provided. Said warrants shall be printed on the best quality bank check paper with suitable spaces on the backs thereof for affixing fifty-two of the said warrant redemption stamps. Said warrants shall be no larger than eight and three-quarter inches in length and three and three-quarters inches in width and they shall be no smaller than eight inches in length and three inches in width. Suitable spaces shall be printed on the backs of said warrants to indicate serially the proper places for affixing warrant redemption stamps to the end that on the following Thursday, after said warrants have been paid out for retirement compensation, as contemplated by this article, the first stamp shall be due to be affixed and that thereafter one stamp shall be due to be affixed each Thursday until a total of fifty-two stamps shall be due to be affixed, and said warrants, in the spaces designed for affixing stamps, shall set forth the day of the month and the year when each such warrant redemption stamp shall be due to be affixed, as for example:

"Affix stamp here—THURSDAY —October 27, 1938."

The face of each Retirement Compensation Warrant shall be numbered serially and shall set forth substantially the following:

"This one dollar Retirement Compensation Warrant will be accepted by the State of California for the payment of any licenses, taxes, fees, royalties and any and all other classes of debts or obligations of every kind and character due to the State or to any County or City in the State or to any board, district, commission or other political subdivision of this State or of any subdivision of any County or City of the State; provided that at the time this warrant is so offered in payment there shall be affixed two-cent Warrant Redemption Stamps for all due dates as set forth on the back hereof which are prior to such date of tender. Within four weeks after fifty-two two-cent Warrant Redemption Stamps shall have become due and been affixed, this warrant will be redeemed by the State Retirement Life Payments Administrator for one dollar lawful money of the United States, provided that this warrant is presented for redemption not later than fifty-seven weeks after the date of its issue."

The Administrator shall cause certain and sufficient sums of said Retirement Compensation Warrants to be issued and paid out each week as compensation to each person who shall apply for and who is lawfully entitled to receive retirement life payments as hereinafter provided by Sections 8, 9, 10 and 11; and to provide compensation for the Administrator and his staff as provided by Sections 26, 27 and 28 hereof; and for any other purpose required by the provisions of this article, and for no other purpose.

Section 8. During an initial period of eighteen weeks which shall begin on a Thursday twelve weeks after the adoption of this article and which shall end thirty weeks after the adoption of this article, the Administrator shall cause Retirement Compensation Warrants to be issued and paid out as follows: to each person who is lawfully entitled to receive retirement life payments as hereinafter provided by Sections 9, 10 and 11 and who shall have filed his or her application on or before the beginning of said initial period: the sum of not less than fifteen $1.00 warrants each week for the first six weeks, not less than twenty $1.00 warrants each week for the second six weeks, not less than twenty-five $1.00 warrants each week for the third six weeks; thereafter and following the close of said initial period of eighteen weeks, and beginning with the thirty-first week after the adoption of this article, there shall be paid out to each such person each week not less than thirty $1.00 warrants or their face value equivalent in lawful money of the United States, thus bringing all the compensation provisions of this article into full force and effect. Persons lawfully entitled to receive retirement life payments and who shall make application for the same during said initial period and prior to the thirty-first week, shall be enrolled and paid at that rate of payment which is in effect at the date of such application; and their payments shall be increased thereafter exactly the same as though they had been enrolled for the entire initial period, and persons filing their application during or after the thirty-first week after this article is adopted shall be enrolled and paid at the maximum rate of not less than thirty $1.00 warrants or their face value equivalent in lawful money of the United States each week as long as such persons remain qualified recipients according to the provisions of this article. The Administrator shall compute all such weekly retirement life payments upon the basis of average prices of consumer goods and rentals which prevailed in 1937, and in the event that the average price level of all consumer goods included by the United States Department of Commerce in computing index numbers of the consumer goods prices for the Cities of Los Angeles and San Francisco shall show an increase in any quarter over the average price level for those cities for the entire year of 1937, then the number of one dollar warrants which the Administrator shall pay out to each such person each week shall be increased in the same proportion as the higher price level of that particular quarter bears to the average price level of consumer goods for the year 1937. Such increase in the number of warrants to be issued and paid out to each such person shall be reflected not later than four weeks following the publication of those quarterly reports which show the increase. In like manner the number of warrants so issued shall be decreased or increased in harmony with fluctuations in said price levels, but at no time shall the weekly retirement payments fall below thirty $1.00 warrants or their face value equivalent in lawful money of the United States to each person each week. Such increase in the number of warrants to be issued and paid out to each person each week shall be computed in even dollars. Fractional increases in price levels which when computed amount to less than fifty cents per person per week shall be disregarded, but fractional increases which when computed amount to fifty cents or more but less than one dollar per person per week shall be considered as one dollar.

Four months after the first week's issue of one dollar warrants shall have been paid out, as provided by Section 8, the Administrator may in the manner directed for the engraving and printing of one dollar warrants by Section 7, cause to be engraved and printed and issued a certain percentage of the Retirement Compensation Warrants necessary to the payment provisions of this article, in denominations of five and ten dollars each and he shall cause to be engraved and printed and issued ample and sufficient quantities of Warrant Redemption Stamps of corresponding denominations, to-wit: ten-cent stamps for the five dollar warrants and twenty-cent stamps for the ten dollar warrants, and said stamps shall be sold and used to redeem all such larger denomination warrants. The exact proportions of one, five and ten dollar denomination warrants to be so issued shall be based upon consideration of public convenience and determined by the Administrator, but at no time shall the total face-value of one dollar warrants so issued be less than one-fifth of the total, nor the face-value of the five dollar warrants be more than two-fifths of the total, nor the total face-value of the ten dollar warrants be more than two-fifths of the total. Under no circumstances shall any recipient be compelled to accept warrants in other than one dollar denomination..

State Drafts Plans For Santa Ana Span

45% PWA AID SOUGHT; COST IS $145,000

Detailed plans for construction of a new bridge on Santa Ana boulevard have been drawn by the state department of public works, City Engineer J. L. McBride reported today.

The state department has filed application for a 45 per cent grant with the Public Works Administration, and the application is now being considered by the PWA in Washington.

Construction work will start, McBride said, as soon as federal money is made available. It is believed the new bridge will cost about $145,000.

McBride said word the federal project is expected to be granted "any time now." The state will advertise for bids immediately upon receiving federal funds.

The new bridge will replace the present sagging structure which was damaged by the March floods and which has been closed to traffic since that time. Traffic has been routed to Chapman avenue.

Plans which have already been prepared by state engineers call for a four-lane bridge, each lane 12 feet in width. There will be a dividing strip in the middle of the bridge to prevent passing. There will be pedestrian walks on each side.

The bridge will be five feet higher than the old bridge, taking care of fill-in in the river bottom or the raising of levees.

No Santa Ana tax money will go into the new bridge.

The word Friday comes from Friga, the Scandinavian Venus who was goddess of peace, fertility and riches.

Street Sweeper, Dismissed, Opens Fire On Officials

CLEVELAND. (AP)—Authorities ordered a psychopathic examination today for a discharged street sweeper who, after a suburban Cleveland Heights council meeting, drew a revolver, fired at the mayor and wounded the city manager.

One bullet entered City Manager Harry H. Canfield's mouth and pierced his cheek. Two bullets whistled by Mayor Frank C. Cain.

Overpowered, the man repeated: "Why did you take my job away from me? I have paid thousands of dollars in taxes, and I get fired and somebody else gets the jobs."

S. P. TO TAKE UP OLD SPUR

Removal of tracks on the old "Garfield spur" will be started within the near future by the Southern Pacific railway company.

The spur of track reaching from Garfield to Spurgeon street will be removed and the street repaved by the company.

Southern Pacific engineers have conferred with Santa Ana city officials and have agreed upon the method of repaving the street after the removal of the tracks, City Engineer J. L. McBride reported.

As only one firm is now using the track, there is no further use for the spur.

ORANGE MAN IN JAIL

Herman Williams, 31, Orange, today was beginning a five-day county jail sentence on reckless driving charges from Orange city court.

S. MAIN ST. IMPROVEMENTS DEMANDED

Demands by business men and property owners for action on improvements along South Main street are being investigated by the city council and the forestry board.

Petitions recently demanded action on: completion of widening of South Main street from First to Fairview; removal, if necessary, and trimming of all trees and shrubs in parking strips along South Main; correction of street lighting.

Mayor Fred Rowland reported last night there apparently had been a misunderstanding among the petitioners on the second request, as they wanted the trees removed only upon the condition Main street is widened.

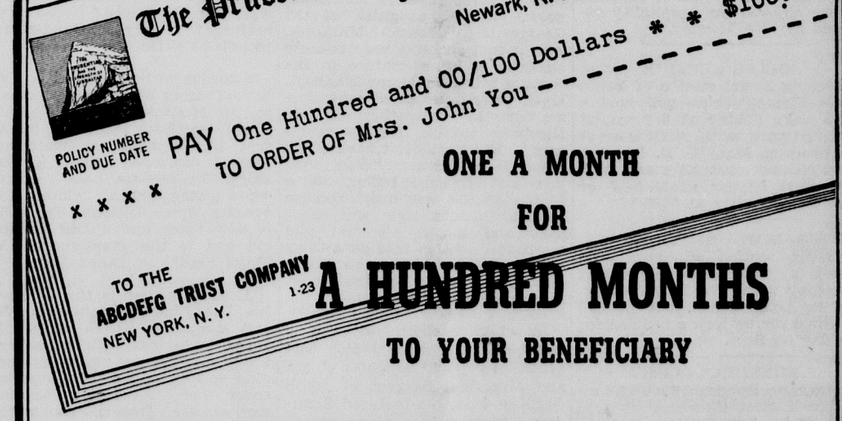

The council is still studying the other sections of the petition.

Wimbledon Slayer Sentenced To Die

Assistance League Meets And Plans Rummage Sale

Inspired with enthusiasm for another of their progressive and successful seasons, members of the Assistance League of Santa Ana met for the first time since June yesterday afternoon, convening in the spacious home of their president, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth. Despite the recess, however, the League's charitable work has continued with its customary fervor, and Mrs. John Ball's detailed report of the cases during these three months was received with great interest. As project chairman, her duties during the summer continued, and in her report she stressed the fact that both the children's bed at St. Joseph's hospital and the maternity bed at Santa Ana Valley hospital, had been occupied virtually every day.

Also of paramount interest during the business session was Mrs. Rex Kennedy's treasurer's report, and plans for the League's annual rummage sale, to be held this year Oct. 19 and 20. Mrs. Edward Hall was appointed general chairman of the sale.

Next meeting of the League is to be at the home of Mrs. Ray Chandler, with Mrs. A. G. Flagg as co-hostess.

Yesterday's affair was as pleasant socially as it was stimulating, for Mrs. Chenoweth and her co-hostess, Mrs. John Ball, served a delicious luncheon at small tables centered with Chinese bowls of little pompon zinnias. Vivid dahlias and zinnias were elsewhere in the home in which bridge occupied the hours following the business session.

Anniversary Occasions Smart Party

Making her attractive home at 1221 South Parton street very gay with many bowls of rose and orchid asters, Mrs. E. U. Farmer received guests one night recently in honor of Mr. Farmer's birthday anniversary.

Both contract and auction bridge had been planned for the evening. When play finished, and scores were tallied, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echols were awarded the prize for high total in auction, and Mrs. Jean Tibbits was second. Mr. and Mrs. Clell Williamson were high scorers in contract, with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alleman second high. Mrs. Harry Fink and Mrs. Harry LeBard were the recipients of lovely traveling awards

It was then that Mrs. Farmer served a delightful refreshment course at individual tables which were centered with crystal vases of asters, and Mr. Farmer was given gifts in honor of his anniversary.

Included in the hospitalities of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clell Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McWilliams, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fink, Mr. and Mrs. Harry LeBard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alleman, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echols, Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Pearson, Mrs. Jean Tibbits, and the hosts.

ANNIVERSARY IS MARKED WITH PLEASANT PARTY

Although the birthday anniversary of George Howley, 315 West Main street, Tustin, was Sunday, friends had planned a pleasant surprise dinner party for him Saturday evening, when a group met at the Hood cafe in Balboa for the affair.

Mrs. Hood had prepared a lovely table in yellow and green, with flowers, crystal and linens all in those shades. Following the dinner hour, the guests went to the Hood home in Balboa where an evening of contract was enjoyed. As a present from the group, Mr. Howley received a leather kit outfitted with toilet articles.

Celebrating the occasion with the honor guest were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vance, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Pankey, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. William Diers, and Mrs. Howley.

Recipient of another dinner Sunday, Mrs. Howley received guests for a small dinner party again honoring Mr. Howley, and a nephew, James Riggs, of Los Angeles. Following a lovely dinner, the party enjoyed a drive about the county. Mr. E. White, of Orange, and the Misses Margaret and Jean Jaberg enjoyed the hospitality extended by Mrs. Howley.

SOCIAL SECTION

Evening Social section of Santa Ana's Woman's club will hold a steak bake Friday at 6 p. m. at Santiago park, with cards later at the home of Mrs. W. E. Denniss. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Earl Lepper at 1845-W or Mrs. C. R. Walter at 5385-W.

GARDEN SECTION

Garden section of Santa Ana Woman's club will not meet Thursday with Mrs. R. A. McMahon in Long Beach, but instead will hold the potluck scheduled for the day on Sept. 29.

SUNSHINE CLUB

Sycamore Rebekah Sunshine club will meet Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Alfreda Olson, 1416 South Ross street.

SANTA ANA GROUP PLAYS HOST

Santiago park was the setting for a Sunday evening picnic when the Santa Ana First Christian church Christian Endeavor society was host to the Orange Christian church young people.

The groups met at 5:30 p. m. for several entertaining sports events, after which Miss Eloise Sullivant, new president of Santa Ana's groups, lead evening services.

Refreshments were served at the close of the picnic, with a marshmallow roasting winding up the pleasant affair.

B. AND P. W. LAUNCH WINTER PROGRAM

Swinging into their winter routine of program study outlined by the national federation, members of Business and Professional Women last night found it a pleasant change from the summer informality that has been theirs for the past three months.

Mrs. Edith Thatcher sat in the president's chair for the first time since her long summer vacation, and at the close of dinner at the Doris Kathryn, asked Miss Lena Thomas, program co-ordinator, to outline the year's program.

Then followed a most interesting symposium outlining five vocational issues. Adjustment in a changing world, beginning business after 40 years of age, youth's starting, justification of two careers, and the problem of women raising standards, were ably presented by a group of speakers which included Dr. Estelle Davis, Dr. Mary Wright, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Jeanette Humphrys, and Mabel Whiting.

Miss Dorothy Decker, southern district president of the B. and P. W., announced a district conclave Oct. 15 and 16 at Mission inn, Riverside, and it was announced that the local chapter's next session will be held Oct. 3.

Mrs. Ida Walker and Miss Esther Slagle were welcomed as new members, and brief talks by Calvin Flint on the junior college bond election and Orlyn Robertson on the Community Chest, were enjoyed.

COMPANY MEMBERS ENJOY PICNIC

Friends and employes of the Southern Counties Gas company met last evening at Irvine park for an evening of entertainment at their annual picnic.

With over 150 present, games had been arranged for the group, following which supper was served. Following the dinner hour, dancing was in order for the balance of the evening, only to have this part of the affair interrupted by the thunder shower which left the park in darkness for nearly an hour.

Responsible for the successof of the evening were Frank Bacon and Fred Brush, who had charge of all arrangements.

Your Baby Book

By CARO COGAN

John and Richard Taylor, who live at 417 East Chestnut street, will soon welcome home a baby sister, for a daughter was born to their parents, the John Lacy Taylors, yesterday morning. John is six years old and brother Richard is three.

* * *

Of interest to Santa Anans who know his aunt, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, is news about Jock, son of Stewart and Cabelle Fletcher. Jock is six months of age, and almost as big as a one-year-older. He lives at Coronado, has the most gorgeous pair of eyes imaginable, and is the grandson of Inglis Fletcher, noted authoress.

* * *

We heard a cute story just today, concerning young Miss Margaret Walker, daughter of the George H. Walkers. Margaret, who is just six, was very intently studying a bit of nature in the form of a bug as it crawled about. Upon being questioned as to her activities by her mother, she said she was looking for the bug's ears. "But bugs don't have ears," responded mother. "Well, then you just finished telling me a fib," said the wee one, "because just a minute ago you went past and kissed me and told me that I was as cute as a bug's ear!" Which proves the literal mindedness with which the youngsters are apt to take you.

* * *

Showing promise of much talent is little Miss Janice Sargent, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sargent of South Garnsey who was featured Saturday afternoon in a piano recital. According to her teacher, Carolyn Haughton, Janice projects her charming personality through her music to her listeners, and she had an unusual gradation of dynamics for so wee a girl. Her tiny fingers move across the keys with amazing rapidity, and she plays with great ease and freedom.

* * *

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Faccou, who made her arrival into the world last night at St. Joseph's hospital, will have something to boast about when she begins to talk, for she has three great grandparents, all of whom live in Santa Ana. She is the first great grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lykke on the maternal side, and of Mr. M. Faccou on her father's side. Incidentally, the little one tipped the scales at exactly nine-and-a-half pounds at birth.

* * *

Someone to be proud of is cute little Thomas Flake Talbert, small son of Medora and Tom Talbert. When describing him to us, it was just like hearing, or watching, rather, someone telling a fish story, for Medora uses gestures when giving length, width, and breadth of son Thomas. The baby is now three and a half months old and is the grandson of the Flake Smiths of Santa Ana.

* * *

A busy toddler is tiny Jacquelyn Dee Rimel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rimel. It would never do to just walk somewhere when she can get there by running as fast as her little legs can carry her. According to her mother, she jabbers constantly, and is the proud possessor of quite a few teeth for a girl of a year and a half. She is a blonde, with lovely blue eyes, and is very sturdy. She likes cats, but her favorite "toy" is her cousin Bobby Bennett's outgrown shoe, which she hugs to her all the time. She has a grand play yard, for her parents, with foresight, enclosed the backyard for their daughter, and then furnished it with a swing and other amusements.

* * *

Another little blonde charmer, and playmate of Jacquelyn Dee, is Karen Van Dyke, neighbor of just a "few doors up the street." This little one is seven months older than Jacquelyn, and a wee bit taller. She has olive skin and brown eyes to go with her blondness, and although we haven't seen her, we hear she's quite cute. Marks of distinction are already being made by Karen's pal, for "Jackie Dee" calls Karen "Dee Dee," since that is her middle initial too, and there just can't be any confusion when she's around.

BRIDGE TEA TO BE FRIDAY AT COUNTRY CLUB

Coincidental with the flurry of activity occasioned in every club and organization in the city during September is the busy schedule of the Santa Ana Country club this month.

First on its calendar is the customary afternoon bridge tea, to be held this coming Friday at two o'clock. There will be no guest charge this month for the affair, for which Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Albert Harvey are chairmen. Anyone wishing luncheon before the party must make reservations by Thursday.

Next comes the weekly buffet supper Sunday evening at which the J. B. Tuckers and the R. E. Campbells will be hosts. Following that is the benefit bridge party Sept. 29, for both men and women, and which, it is hoped, will have an attendance of 400. Lavish plans are being made for the party, both as to prizes and refreshments, and all proceeds will go toward purchasing odds and ends to complete the refurnishing program at the clubhouse.

TO RETURN TO POMONA COLLEGE

Robert Pankey, who left yesterday for Pomona college, was honored Friday evening with a surprise birthday dinner, given for him by his mother, Mrs. H. J. Pankey in their lovely Lemon Heights home.

The spacious patio of the home was the scene of the dinner hour, with gay pottery service making colorful splashes against the table. The affair was followed by a theater party. Enjoying the evening were the Misses Corinne Hobart, Elizabeth Searles, Shirley Phelps, and Nolan Rasher, Edgar Pankey, and the guest of honor.

BETTER GARDENS

Better Gardens club will meet this evening at the home of Miss Olive Wherry, 318 Harwood place.

MOTHERS' CIRCLE MEETS AGAIN

Mothers' Child Study circle had an enjoyable meeting last week, the first of its regular formal winter meetings, for during the summer it has had the pleasant custom of having family picnics instead.

Mrs. Cecil Sauers, 1315 Santiago street, was hostess to the group, and Mrs. Nylin Hurd led a discussion along the topic of "Mothers Need To Get Together."

A delicious refreshment course was enjoyed, and Mrs. Loren Spencer invited the circle to meet with her Oct. 6. Mrs. Neil Willets was a special guest of the day.

Members present were the Mesdames John W. Fraley, Ernest Hill, Nylin Hurd, Kenneth Loughton, Guy T. Matics, Rex McGill, Herb Parsons, Cecil Sauers, Loren Spencer, Josh Wilson, and William Humphrey.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS IN VEEH HOME

Mrs. George Veeh of Valencia road, Irvine, was hostess to her contract club on Friday at a delightful luncheon. The table was centered with a lovely fall centerpiece of fruit and grape leaves. Zinnias in bright autumn shades were used throughout the rooms.

Prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. L. R. Wilson and Mrs. Glenn Warner following an afternoon of contract. Members present were Mrs. L. R. Wilson, Mrs. B. J. McReynolds. Mrs. H. J. Pankey, Mrs. Gilbert Martin, Mrs. Porter Luther, Mrs. Glenn Warner, Mrs. J. A. Prescott and the hostess.

ALTRUSA CLUB

Altrusa club will meet Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at Daniger's. Miss Mary Howard of the vocational information committee, will present Miss Vanche Plumb as the featured speaker of the evening.

Julie Hamilton, small town Southern girl, regrets her half-hearted engagement to Kenneth Terry. When he falls under the spell of Isolde Fleming, trouble-making visitor from New York Julie is indifferent. Then, she meets Barry Caldwell, young Western rancher who has met with reverses and is hiking to New York for a radio audition. They fall in love, and she breaks her engagement to Kenneth. A little later, however, to prevent a fight between Barry and Kenneth, she desperately tells Barry she has merely been flirting with him. The next day, she tries to explain, but he goes away embittered. When she learns, a month later, that he is singing in a cafe in Atlanta, she hastily sets out for Atlanta, telling her father she is going to visit a friend. Meanwhile, her cousin, Normandy Buford, has discovered that Barry is the son of a man whom Normandy knew twenty odd years ago when he was prospecting for gold in the West.

CHAPTER XXVII

THE day Julie left for Atlanta, Normandy Buford received a letter postmarked at Phoenix, Arizona. It was waiting for him when he returned home from his office at five.

He tore it open eagerly, and read the penciled scrawl:

Dear friend Buford:

Your letter got to me here after being forwarded around from different addresses where I've been the past few years. I was glad to hear from you. It's been a long time since we threw a diamond hitch on a pack burro and went into the mountains together to prospect for gold, but I haven't forgotten. Those were the days.

Concerning the matter you askea about in your letter—no, I never went back into the Bar-X country to try and run down that vein we found. But I'd sure like to.

I hear old Grampus Caldwell is dead, but I understand there's a son that maybe we could deal with—if you really want to go into it. Let me know. It would be good to see you again.

I've got a hunch there's a fortune in gold on the Bar-X—just begging to be worked.

Faithfully yours,
Jeff Stratton.

Normandy sat with the letter in his hand for a long time. He was gazing out a window toward the west, spanning the continent in imagination—not seeing what was before his eyes, but gazing upon a vista of wind-swept plains and rugged mountains.

THE letter carried him back twenty-five years, and he was reliving that last prospecting trip he had taken, with Jeff Stratton as his partner.

After repeated failures, that trip had been partially successful. They had found a vein all right—and it had looked like a rich find—but it had been on Bar-X property.

When they had told Grampus Caldwell of their discovery, the rancher had just laughed at them His interest lay in cattle rather than in mining, and he was dead set against having any part of his cattle range dug up on the slim chance that there might be a bit of gold there. Hence, they hadn't run the vein down.

With the passing of the years memory of that Bar-X vein had slipped away from Normandy. But the coming of Barry Caldwell had revived it.

His letter to Jeff Stratton had been a shot in the dark. He hadn't even known whether Jeff was still alive. For that reason, he hadn't said anything about it to Julie—nadn't told her there was a chance Barry might not be as penniless as he thought he was.

Normandy sat thinking. A fortune in gold in the Bar-X mountains? It wasn't impossible. His eyes shone with mounting excitement.

He rose with sudden decision, laid the open letter on a table, and went to the telephone in the hall.

He first called his secretary and told her he was going on an unexpected trip West, and might be away for a month. Next, he phoned the depot for a reservation on a westward-bound night train: and then, he sent Jeff a telegram informing him he was on his way to Phoenix.

His train would leave at eight o'clock. That didn't give him much time to pack and get ready.

He was in his bedroom, packing, when he heard light footsteps on the front porch.

Thinking it was Julie, he called, "Come on in and make yourself at home! I'll be out in a moment, with exciting news!"

The voice that answered was Isolde's, not Julie's. He frowned, wondered what the heck she wanted, and went on with his packing.

MEANWHILE, Isolde had stepped into the living room, and was moving about restlessly. She paused beside the table, tapping the polished wood nervously.

Her glance fell casually on the open letter lying there—then suddenly became intent.

A single sentence had leaped up and caught her eye:

. . . . there's a fortune in gold on the Bar-X.

The Bar-X! Why, that was—that was Barry Caldwell's ranch!

She leaned over the table excitedly, read the entire letter without compunction. Her eyes glittered as she stepped back swiftly, and sat down in a chair near the door.

She was looking through a magazine with pretended nonchalance when Normandy came in, carrying a bulging bag.

"Forgive me for keeping you waiting," he said, setting down the bag.

"That's quite all right," she assured him languidly.

Normandy suddenly saw the letter lying on the table. He quickly picked it up and thrust it in his pocket.

ISOLDE smiled. "Are you going away?" She arched her eyebrows at the leather bag.

"Yes—a short business trip."

"Indeed? West?" There was a little slur in Isolde's voice.

Normandy stared at her. Could she possibly have read that letter while she was waiting? He dismissed the possibility as unworthy even of Isolde.

"As it happens—yes," he replied. "Every one seems to be leaving." Isolde said lazily. "I came over to ask if you knew that Julie hotfooted it to Atlanta this afternoon?"

Normandy was surprised, but all he said was. "Is that so?"

"Yes. She told her father she was going to visit a friend, but the cashier at the bank told Ken she drew out an immense sum in cash before leaving, and the servants say she took enough luggage to do her for a month! It seems very queer don't you think?"

"I am not." said Normandy stiffly. "interested in nearing Julie's private affairs discussed."

Isolde shrugged and rose. "You needn't be rude. I just thought you would like to know . . ."

She went out with a spiteful smile.

Normandy stood frowning for a moment, then dismissed Isolde from his mind. Which was a mistake.

REUNION HELD BY SCHROEDER FAMILY

Individual tables were placed in the pretty arbor of the Otto Schroeder home on North Lincoln street Sunday where a pot-luck dinner was served at a family reunion.

The party was occasioned by the fact that several members of the family will leave soon for various schools. Ruth Greenwald and Ewald Kiser will enter Pacific college in Seattle this week, and Anna Claire Mauerhan will enroll in the University of Redlands, while Robert Witt will go to Woodbury college in Los Angeles.

During the afternoon, the younger members of the group played Chinese checkers, while the others chatted.

Mrs. George Watson and daughter, Sallie, of Los Angeles, were overnight guests in the Schroeder home, and others present were Fred Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mauerhan, and children, Mildred and Anna Claire, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mauerhan, and daughters, Joan and Barbara Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor, and daughter, Gloria, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Witt, and Velma and Robert, of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marquart and son, Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pattee, and son, Howard, jr., of Claremont, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Greenwald, and children, Ruth, Marilyn, and Darrell, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schroeder and children, Leola, Kenneth, Dwight and Lowell, Ewald Kiser, and James Noe.

SORORITY MAPS OUT PLANS FOR CONCLAVE

Delta Chi Sigmas last night concerned themselves with the problems presented by rushing and by the forthcoming state conclave at Hotel Knickerbocker, Hollywood, over which Miss Carol Smith of the local chapter will preside in her role of state president.

Entering into the discussion were two Long Beach members, Mrs. Jack Harris and Miss Ruth Sterling.

Members present at the meeting, held at the home of Miss Vivian and Miss Mary Alice White on Lyon street, were the Misses Dorothy Hanna, Lois Wagner, Carol Smith, Nadene Johnson, Frances Roberts, Lorene Shipe, Henrietta Jinnett, Alice Martin, Henrietta Rurup, Eileen McCollum, and Margaret Westover of Orange and Ruth Souder of Santa Barbara, and the Mesdames James Newman, Richard Bradley, Corwyn Frazee, Lloyd Manderscheid, Virgil Harman and Robert Barrett.

WOMEN VOTERS START YEAR FRIDAY

League of Women Voters will embark upon its winter work this coming Friday after a summer recess.

Initial luncheon of the group will be held at the Ebell clubhouse, with luncheon to be served at 12:30 p. m. Reservations for this must be made by Thursday noon, and can be made by calling 1826.

Featured speaker will be T. H. Glenn of Santa Ana junior college, just returned from a summer abroad. His topic will be, "A Tourist's View of Europe."

Mrs. Felton B. Browning will preside over the business session, at which time district conclave reports will be made. Mrs. Louise Mock will conduct a study group on collective bargaining at 11 a. m. at the clubhouse.

COED IS PARTY HONOREE

Mrs. Otto Schroeder and daughter, Leola, and Mrs. Henry Marquart of Orange formed a hostess trio when they entertained at a dessert luncheon on Saturday, honoring Miss Ruth Greenwald, niece and cousin of the hostesses. Miss Greenwald will leave Wednesday for Pacific college, in Seattle.

The party was given in the Schroeder home, 2227 North Lincoln street. Guests were received in the lovely arbor and later were ushered in to a long table indoors. The table had been cleverly decorated with paper with the guest's names written at each place, and a globe of the world and a pile of college books had been placed at one end with pencils and other school necessities scattered around.

The honoree was presented with a lovely gardenia corsage, and a personal shower. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in playing games and in informal chat. Prizes for high scores in the contests went to the Misses Sallie Watson, Lois Rohrs, and Helen Allison.

Invited to share the affair were the Misses Evelyn Stutts, Elsa Kelsey, Helen Allison, Lois Rohrs, Mary Sartar, Marilyn Greenwald, Mrs. Herbert Greenwald and Mrs. Leslie Pollard, all of Santa Ana; the Misses Irene Wyman, Helen Rohrs, Losi Jenke, Marjorie Gommell, all of Orange; Mrs. George Watson, and Sallie Watson of Los Angeles, Miss Dorothy and Eloise Smith of Norwalk, Miss Dorothy Matz of Torrance, and Mrs. Albert Mittmann of Glendora.

SULLIVANS FETED AT V. F. W. PICNIC

With more than 250 post and auxiliary members of Veterans of Foreign Wars in attendance, Sunday's annual picnic of the Orange county council of V. F. W., was a distinct success.

Part of the group gathered early for a breakfast cooked and served by Wesley Davis of Orange, while others did not arrive until time for the basket lunch served at noon.

The Fullerton Boy Scout drum and bugle corps played several numbers, after which came the calendar of sports events.

At the time that prizes were handed out to the winners, Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan were made the recipients of many lovely gifts by those of the group who had recalled that it was their 18th wedding annniversary.

Winners included Olive Hadley of Orange, ladies' 50-yard dash; Lee Sitton of Santa Ana, men's 50-yard dash; John Taylor of Fullerton, men's sack race; Mrs. A. Sachs of Ontario, ladies' ball-throwing; Mrs. Ralph Swope of Fullerton, ladies' nail driving; Tony Delop and John Taylor, men's three-legged race; Don and Mary Sachs of Ontario, youngsters' 50-yard dash.

Arthur Swope of Fullerton, boys' 75-dard dash; Marlis Everhart of Fullerton, girls' 30-yard dash; J. Larne of Fullerton, Boy Scout 50-yard dash; Alma Troller of Fullerton, women's walking contest; Violet Swope of Fullerton, doughnut eating.

DAUGHTERS HEAR REPORT OF DELEGATE

Principal feature of Daughters of Union Veterans' first regular meeting this fall was the report of Mrs. Nellie Parker, delegate to the national convention at Des Moines, Iowa, early this month. Her report was given in an informal and most interesting manner, covering all phases of convention week.

Mrs. Ella Smith, president, announced that the local tent is to be visited either in October or November by the department president, Mrs. Clara Mosher of Los Angeles.

Floral committee members reported 51 bouquets sent to invalids and bereaved members, and the visiting committee reported 45 calls on shut-ins.

Also of interest at the meeting were reminiscences of last Friday's pleasant tea at the home of Mrs. Fannie Nau, senior vice president.

At that time her spacious rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn flowers, chief among which was a striking basket of orange and flame-hued zinnias centering the tea table.

Committee members uniting in serving the dainty four o'clock tea, complete to pretty boutonierres on each tray, were the Mesdames Blanche Quiggle, Florence Perry, Kate Rinshed, Anna Derr, and Fannie Nau.

POPULAR PASTOR WELCOMED BY CHURCH GROUP

When the Rev. E. E. Johnson and his family returned to their home from Wednesday evening services, they were pleasantly surprised to find that several score members and friends of the church had preceded them there. The occasion was to welcome their pastor back for another year's work and fellowship.

W. G. Vaught, class leader of the church had arranged an interesting program in which all guests could participate, and there were special numbers by Evangeline Fryatt, and her sister, Marjorie, a humorous reading by Mrs. M. McNeal, a cornet solo by Arthur Yount, an original poem by Earl Bruce, and an accordion number by Carolyn Hager. It was then that Mrs. Scott Wiles gave the Rev. Johnson a welcome from the church, expressing the group's admiration for the popular pastor.

Mrs. Johnson was presented with a lovely pottery bowl filled with flowers and a gift of canned goods by Mrs. Yount. Speaking for his family, the Rev. Johnson then responded with a few words of gratitude, before the guests were invited to enjoy iced watermelon which was served in the gardens of the parsonage.

CLUB ENJOYS LUNCH IN ANAHEIM

Meeting on one of the cooler afternoons of last week, members of X. N. O. club had an enjoyable picnic lunch at Anaheim park, later strolling about and inspecting the cactus gardens, lily ponds and the handicraft center.

Mrs. M. O. Johnson, Mrs. E. E. Edwards and Mrs. B. A. Hersney were unable to be present at the session, which will be followed by another Sept. 28 at the home of Mrs. Stanley Hardin, 512 Maple street, but those who were in attendance included the Mesdames A. R. Bennett, W. R. Edwards, Stanley Hardin, R. A. McPhee, E. E. Perry, H. R. Trott, W. E. Webb and J. D. Manning.

METHODIST CIRCLES WILL MEET

Their initial fall meetings have been set for tomorrow by circles of the Associated Women of the First Methodist church, and it is expected that a good deal of the year's programs of each will be planned out.

Circle One will meet with Mrs. Roy Seaver, 2421 Valencia street, with Mrs. Harold Keech presiding, while Circle Two will convene at the home of Mrs. Leo Myers, 1410 Bush street, with Mrs. Edward Burns officiating.

Circle Three meets with Mrs. L. C. Hendrickson, 622 North French street under the leadership of Mrs. C. L. Etchinson, and Circle Four is to be convened at the home of Mrs. Mary Van Wyk, 840 North Ross street, with Mrs. Lewis Allen presiding.

Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, 512 West First street, will entertain Circle Six, with Mrs. Anna Pankey as leader. Mrs. James Province is to be hostess Circle Seven at her home, 2206 Orange avenue, with Mrs. Claude Forbess presiding.

Circle Eight, presided over by Mrs. Sam Long, will meet at the home of Mrs. Ruth Walker, 607 East Bishop street, and Circle Nine is to convene at the home of Mrs. O. V. Bartlett, 501 East Chestnut street, with Mrs. Perry Arnold presiding.

DANCING CLASS WILL MEET WEEKLY

Always a sure indication that the winter season is well under way is the resumption of dancing classes and clubs within the ranks of the younger set.

Launched this week was a new advanced dancing class to be taught by Mary Morton each Thursday evening in the ballroom over the Empire market.

The young people became quite proficient in the less intricate steps last year, and this season will take up advanced ballroom styles. In the starting group were Betty Betts, Carol Chittock, Bob Edgar, Shirley Edgar, Frank Fishbaugh, Jack Givens, Mildred Gibson, Maxine Hilyard, Jean Hunter, Betty Jones, Kenneth Limbaugh, Doris Luke, Mina Light, Raymond Marsile, Ronald Marsile Bruce Matthews, Barbara McFadden.

Janet McFadden, Kathleen May, Mike McBride, Monna Reinhart, Pauline Struck, Ruby Chilston, Betty Shidler, Fayette Wilson, Billy Warren, Peggy Warren, John Wood, Dorothy Wall, Morton Weinberg, and Melva Yarborough.

RAIN AIDS PIRATES IN N. L. PENNANT RACE

Dons Reduce Admission Prices For Santa Monica

SPORTS Roundup

—By— EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—Maestro Fritz Crisler's magic has fired Michigan's droopy Wolverines to a high pitch. They may even become the dark horses of the Big Ten this season. . . . Branch Rickey told a close friend he didn't have a thing to do with Frankie Frisch getting the old heave-ho out of St. Louis. That will be good news to Frankie's legion of friends, most of whom admire Rickey, too. . . . Don't suppose the Yankees ever figured a guy named Jupiter Pluvius would win the pennant for them. But that's just about what has happened. . . . The Iowa college team that will play the state prison eleven Oct. 15 is the Burlington Junior college crew. We got fast work from our scouts on that one.

* * *

Joe McCarthy tossed a party for his players when rain clinched the rag for 'em out in St. Louis and presented each with a cigarette lighter. . . . Ray Dumont, the Kansas millionaire who put the national semi-pro baseball congress on the map, blew into town yesterday and promptly tossed a luncheon the newspaper writing gentry will not forget for a long time.

* * *

South Carolina has more than 400 pounds of football captains this year—Co-Caps Larry Craig and Pop Howell each tip the old beam at better than 200. . . . Everyone is conceding the pennant to the Pirates, but just to make sure we have asked Col. Leonard Hicks to stick aside a good room for us at Chicago. . . . Gossip in the pro football dressing rooms is that Branch Rickey will put a team in St. Louis next season with Carl Hubbard, the American league umpire, as coach. . . . A Duluth, Minn., high school has a line averaging 190 pounds and we can prove it. . . . Tackle Carlisle Young contributes a lot with his 246 lbs

* * *

The Cubs are the only major league team which pays off on the road. . . . Joe McCarthy finally has got around to admitting his 1938 Yankees are the best ball club ever assembled, but his old pal, Tony Lazzeri, says (in print) that the Yanks can be licked and that the Cubs can do it. . . . Some of the experts swear Don Budge is wavering about turning pro, but don't you believe it. . . . Joe Louis is going to build up a stable of prize fighters.

CROUCH FIGHTS NICK PETERS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A lightweight match that should bring out the crowd is that scheduled for tonight at the Olympic between Nick Peters and George Crouch, pride of Central avenue.

Peters won over Wally Hally in his latest appearance. Crouch, in his last three bouts, has stopped Andy Scrivani, Joey Milo and Babe Brandelli.

In the six-round semi-final Jimmy McDaniels meets Culver City's Al Hagar.

HOSTAK SCORES 17TH KNOCKOUT

SEATTLE. (AP)—Al Hostak, new ruler of the middleweight division, was ready for a title defense today after scoring his 17th consecutive knockout.

He disposed of Hayden (Young) Stuhley, Kewanee, Ill., battler, last night with a technical knockout in one minute and five seconds of the third round in what was to have been a 10-round non-title affair.

Mostak weighed 159½ pounds, Stuhley, 164. Stuhley was down four times, being saved by the bell at the count of eight in the first round, and going down three times in the third. The first two third-round knockouts were for nine taps, and the fight was stopped after the final tumble.

SAN JOSE WINS

SAN JOSE. (AP)—The San Jose State Spartans, the nation's high scoring football team last season, initiated the 1938 season with an 18 to 7 victory over the Arizona State college team from Tempe last night.

SEEK CROWD FOR FIRST HOME GAME

Admission prices to Santa Ana Junior college's first home game with Santa Monica in the Municipal bowl Thursday night will be reduced to 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children, it was announced today.

Director D. K. Hammond explained the prices will be cut in order to assure a large crowd for the Dons' first '38 football appearance at home.

Les Valentine, Orange High's star end of 1935, reported to the Dons at the Municipal bowl yesterday, and will be groomed for the opening of the Eastern conference season. He probably will not learn the plays in time for the Santa Monica game.

Danny Kaufmann, who has been playing fullback, was shifted to blocking half with Harold Tucker and Rollo Beck . . . Co-Capt. Larry Timken and Sam Henderson are being groomed for both the quarterback and fullback posts.

Jack Lentz continues to hold down the No. 1 center spot, with Jerry Nesmith remaining in the backfield. It is doubtful whether Nesmith will be employed at the pivot post unless needed for relief duty, Coach Bill Cook said.

ALUMNI TICKETS WILL GO ON SALE TOMORROW

Tickets go on sale tomorrow morning at the Santa Ana Junior college office, Tenth and Main streets, to all alumni for reserved seat tickets to Don home games.

This announcement was made today by President Otto Grigg of the Alumni association, who said the tickets also will include a year's membership in the association. The tickets do not admit the bearer to the games, but guarantees a reserved section for all home games.

Price of the tickets is 25 cents, President Grigg said. Violet Bartholomew, executive secretary, is assisting in the sale.

S. A. GOLFERS ADVANCE

Eight golfers remain in the running for the annual men's President Cup championship at the Santa Ana Country club.

In the women's division, Mrs. C. H. Chapman drew a first-round bye; Mrs. Ludy Schaffer defeated Mrs. Helen Guthier; Mrs. L. H. Robinson defeated Mrs. Hugh Shields, 1 up on the 20th; Mrs. E. E. Baker defeated Mrs. Don Andrews, and Mrs. C. H. Chapman, Mrs. Paul Hall, Mrs. Harry Bakre, Mrs. D. R. Kerley and Mrs. C. V. Doty drew byes.

Results of the men's round and pairings follow:

Patty Berg Trails In Women's Golf Over Wet Course

CHICAGO. (AP)—Mud, driving rain and cold penetrating wind are no barriers to courageous women golfers seeking the national championship.

Into the first 18-hole rounds of match play over rain-drenched fairways today slid a qualifying field of 64 in 32 matches at Westmoreland Country club. The field was led by two women from the opposite sides of the nation, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, of Chapel Hill, N. C., the defending champion, and Dorothy Traung of San Francsico, runner-up in 1934. They finished in a deadlock for medal honors in the qualifying test yesterday with cards of 80, one over par.

Patty Berg of Minneapolis, discovered that 14 clubs and a pair of rain trousers were not enough to cope with par. She finished with an 85, two strokes back of Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., a three time winner of the western women's championship.

Rice, Southwest Champ, Fears T. C. U.

Ernie Lain sparked Rice Institute's Owls to their second Southwest title in the past four seasons a year ago . . .

Lain was assisted by another soph, Olie Cordill . . .

Ki Aldrich of Texas Christian helped beat Rice, 7-2, in 1937 and is back . . .

So is Davey O'Brien, T. C. U.'s successors to Sammy Baugh.

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Never in a weird Southwest conference history has its famed jinx tottered on such shaky pins.

No team ever looked a superstition as squarely in the eye as Rice Institute's Owls — the hairline favorite to become the first team to win two titles in a row.

Once in a while a wonder team, such as that 1935 Southern Methodist crew, comes along, but they don't come along two years running. Experts who invariably have given odds against a champion repeating are "crawfishing" on Rice.

No one wants to argue about the prowess of Ernie Lain, the 230-pound triple-threat fullback who was the nation's brightest sophomore star last year. His equal, most Southwest coaches argue, is Olie Cordill, a gangling, 190-pound halfback who runs like a gazelle, gathers in most of Lain's passes and kicks beautifully.

As if he didn't have enough offensive threat in that pair, Rice Coach Jimmy Kitts now is ready to spring another bolt of lightning in a massive sophomore back named Earl Glassie. Just for good measure he has a couple of gents named Speedy Moore and Hugo Stevens, who, even pessimistic Deacon Kitts admits "could be as good as Lain and Cordill."

'PHANTOM TEAM'

Few teams will boast the offensive strength that Rice will throw into one of the toughest schedules in the U. S., but that's only half of it. There are lettermen and husky sophomores three to four deep in every line position. Kitts even has a "phantom team" he didn't use a single minute last year—all sophomores—that railbirds claim gave the regulars barrels of misery in scrimmage.

If anyone is to stop Rice it will have to be Texas Christian, coming up with another of its noted 205-pound average lines—all lettermen. Cagey little Leo (Dutch) Meyer had a great team last year that didn't start clicking until after close defeats from Ohio State and Fordham, and it looks even better this year.

Tiny Davey O'Brien, the 150-pound iron man who last year inherited Slingin' Sam Baugh's T. C. U. job, will be back to pilot his huge brethren. The baseball injury which threatened for a while to wreck his great passing arm has almost disappeared. The little fellow, who played nearly 60 minutes of every game on the 1937 schedule, will be back in the huddle.

Texas Christian's team weight average will be close to 197 pounds —considerable beef for any eleven men to stop. Two big linemen will be making their all-America bids—Ki Aldrich, center who landed on The Associated Press' third team, and I. B. Hale, an amazingly fast 248-pounder the Southwest coaches rate as one of the best tackles of all times.

MATTY BELL REBUILDS

The Texas Aggies, disappointments last year because of the lack of a kicker and blocking back, will have Sophomore Ray Thomason, a 200-pounder, to block for Dick Todd, slippery halfback. If Thomason delivers, the Aggies could be dangerous. Matty Bell, at Southern Methodist, rebuilding after two lean seasons, may have the dark horse team. But some believe Dana X. Bible, the $15,000 coach at the University of Texas, may get his system started this year. Bible's first team, in 1937, was poor, due almost entirely to feeble material.

Baylor, sensation of the first half of the 1937 race, lost many stars. Arkansas, the "passingest team in the nation," will start almost from scratch again after graduation of a flock of its 1937 heroes. However, the sensational Arkansas aerial attack is dangerous at every moment.

SAINT SOPHS IN WORKOUT

Santa Ana High school's sophomore eleven continued to work out easy this week as Coach Reece Greene watched them with a critical eye.

Yesterday the squad was divided into four different teams.

Positions on the first string are still wide open, he stated, and he is keeping his eye open for good performers.

The tentative first eleven lines up with George Platt and Albert Hutter, ends; Alan Hadell and Vergil Crenshaw, tackles; Don Liebermann and Paul Higashi, guards; and Pat Mercier, center. The backfield is composed of Richard Roehm, quarter; Jimmy Spain and Bill Gulley, halfbacks; and Parisis Roussos, full.

Budge's Grand Slam Delayed By More Rain

FOREST HILLS. (AP)—Of the tennis players who have been waiting since last Saturday for the rain to subside so that the national championship might stagger to finish, Don Budge has the biggest beef coming.

The famous redhead, only two brief jumps away from his grand slam of the world's four great tournaments, just had brought his matchless game to its absolute peak when the skies came apart. The critics, after watching him mow down Harry Hopman of Australia in the quarter-finals, nodded their heads sagely and agreed the big fellow was in.

But now Budge still has to get past cocky Sidney Wood, jr., in the semi-finals and probably, Jack Bromwich of Australia, in the final, if and when there is a bright day. No one can say whether Don has been able to keep his razor edge through the deluge.

"I don't think the interruption will bother me much," Don smiled, "I can play just as bad tennis when I haven't practiced as when I've been on the court every day."

One of the nation's more notable jitterbugs, Budge spends most of his evenings where the bands swing loudest and the ice cream sodas run red. Always there is a delightful companion on one arm, for the girls do not exactly ostracize a tennis champion.

Wood, who at 26 suddenly has flashed a game like he never owned before, might find the delay his ally against Budge. Never long on stamina, the rest should enable him to sail into the champion at top speed and maintain his volleying game.

Lou Nova Scores Technical Kayo

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Lou Nova, recently dethroned California heavyweight, technicallp knocked outa Frank Androff, Minnesota lumberjack, in the third round of their scheduled 10-rounder last night. It was the feature event of a card of American Legionnaires.

Referee Jack Kennedy stopped the unev n match when Androff showed an apparent unwillingness to protect himself. Nova weighed 198, Androff 188.

JONES AND EDMUNDS BAG FIRST DEER OF SEASON

There have been conflicting reports as to who in Santa Ana bagged the first deer of the season, but from all indications today Cedric Jones and Francis Edmunds deserve the honor. Jones, who operates a filling station at Tenth and Broadway, and Edmunds, who is employed by the Edison company, went out the first day and spotted a forked horn, 110-pounder in San Bernardino . . . Jones wounded it, and the party trailed the deer for four hours, with Edmunds finally bringing it down.

Paul Wright

Among the first to land a deer was Barney Francque, oil man living at 302 East St. Gertrude street, who shot a six-point, 156-pounder in Grass valley, San Bernardino, early Sunday.

FLASHLIGHT SECTION OF DONS WILL BE RETAINED

There will be another flashlight section for Santa Ana Jaysee student football rooters this season.

The section was introduced at the Municipal bowl last fall, and brought much favorable comment by Don fans.

Each student in the section has a flashlight and a cellophane box, which are used to spell such words as "Dons," "SAJC" and "Bill." The stunts are performed with the floodlights turned off during halftime, and are very effective against the dark background.

Don Hart, president of Beta Gamma, extra-curricula honor society, will have charge of the section. He already has issued a call for students to join. New stunts are planned.

REACHING DEEP DOWN INTO SPORTS BARREL

Jack Robinson, the sensational negro quarterback, and his Pasadena teammates who spilled our Santa Ana Dons, 31-18, in the Rose Bowl opener, battle San Bernardino's Indians in another non-conference game on the same turf Friday night. If San Bernardino makes a good showing against Tom Mallory's burly Bulldogs, we can expect trouble when Doug Smythe's co-champions come to the Municipal bowl the night of Oct. 28.

Gerald Allen (Tex) Oliver, who brought football fame to Santa Ana High by coaching the Saints to championships in 1931 and '32, is the University of Oregon's 22nd coach in the 44 years the Webfeet have played competitive football. . . . In these 44 years, Oregon has played 317 games—winning, 182, losing 107 and playing 28 deadlocks.

ST. MARY'S GAELS LIGHTER AND LESS EXPERIENCED THIS YEAR

(This is another of a series dealing with football prospects of leading Far Western teams.)

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — St. Mary's college, once the breeding ground of some of the biggest and heaviest football men in the business, will try to round up the touchdown trade this season with a bunch of light, nimble solicitors.

Edward Patrick (Slip) Madigan, directing genius of the crew, isn't exactly bubbling over with enthusiasm over the outlook. For 17 preceding seasons (He's the oldest coach on the coast in point of service), he has traveled with the optimists of the game. This year he uses such phrases as "our gloomy outlook" and other descriptive Idoma of similar vein which after all may mean he merely decided not to stick his neck out.

The squad as a whole lacks experience. Two-thirds of the hopefuls who reported this fall were from last year's freshman team. Only four seniors fit into what now shapes up as the starting eleven. They are Jerry Dowd, center, from San Francisco; Ralph Jack, right guard from Ottawa, Ill.; Mike Perrie, quarterback from Spokane, and Lou Rimassa, right half back from Watsonville.

The other seven now holding first call on starting roles include: left end Ivan Pivaroff of Los Angeles; left tackle George Cantwell of San Francisco; left guard Dick Mesak, San Francisco; right tackle Nick Katzmeyer, Sanger; right end Lavine Bettencourt, left half Mike Klotovich, San Francisco and fullback Herb Smith, Salinas. Pivaroff, Mesak and Klotovich are sophomores, the others of junior grade.

This team averages approximately 190 pounds on the line and 175 pounds in the backfield, a bunch of bantamweights when compared to preceding elevens which ranged up to 220 pounds in front and close to that in back.

Last year's first stringers were of average weight and fast; this season's much lighter and much faster. The passers are of top caliber and the receivers equally able. From practice indications the Gaels intend to throw the ball around more than they will lug it on the ground.

If Madigan is not certain on how his team will behave on game days he is positive St. Mary's will produce the best center in the market in the person of Jerry Dowd, a versatile chap who not only snaps the ball back on the first two or three downs but handles the bulk of the punting.

The schedule: Sept. 24—California at Berkeley; Oct. 2—Gonzaga at San Francisco; Oct. 9—Loyola at Los Angeles; Oct. 16—Portland at San Francisco; Oct. 23—San Francisco at San Francisco; Nov. 5—Fordham at New York; Nov. 13—Santa Clara at San Francisco.

Seals Lead Angels in Team Hitting in Coast League

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Final unofficial batting statistics of the 1938 Pacific Coast league season issued today disclosed that San Francisco led Los Angeles in team hitting and six of the pennant winning Angel club were included in the .300 or better batters.

The Seals had a season average of .291, Los Angeles .284 and Seattle third with .282.

Veteran Smead Jolley of Hollywood and Oakland, who led the league in hitting in 1927 and 1928, came back in 1938 and was listed at the top of the heap with an average of .349 for the 120 games he played.

The averages: (Team batting)

WALKER COPS FIGHT; JACK JONES LOSES

By KENNETH ADAMS

Hard-hitting Sam Walker, from the Ebony club stables in Los Angeles, punched out a decision over rugged Steve Stanrock, Los Angeles, in the first half of the double main event at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

Walker drew blood in the opening stanza, and Stanrock's nose dripped claret for the balance of the fight. The white boy, however, tried hard every minute but could not beat the cagey negro.

In the second half of the double main, Jack Jones, former Newport Beach battler, dropped the decision to Jim McDaniels, Los Angeles negro, in a listless, colorless event.

Blond Wayne Penn, Long Beach, kayoed tough Sammy Jackson, from the Ebony club stables, in the first round. A right hand to the heart finished Jackson.

Charlie Stone, Fullerton, beat George Jenks, Ebony club, in a free-for-all that was one of the best fights of the evening. Jenks was bleeding from the face as Stone battered him about the ring.

Pappy Jackson, cook from the U. S. S. Mississippi, took on little Bobby Blake, Santa Ana jaysee lad, but found Blake a hard nut to crack. The fight was a riot of action, with both boys swinging and missing with both hands.

Jim Mahoney, battling Irish boy from Long Beach, won a decision over Pete Montez, Los Angeles. It was a good fight, with Mahoney winning for his aggressiveness.

Jack Thompson, Los Angeles, won a decision over Manuel Sanchez. Sanchez was knocked across the ring in the first round, and was badly hurt in the fourth.

Referee Steve Nilan found out last night that it's as hard to make two negro boys fight each other as to serve them a midnight snack in a cemetery. Julius Lowry, Wilmington, and Ernest Hill, L. A., refused to do more than slap at each other, so the "battle" was stopped in the second. In its place a ninth bout was staged, matching Al Alonzo, L. A., and Wally Bailey, Ebony club battler. Alonzo won the decision after four fast frames.

ANGELS, SACS IN PLAYOFF

By the Associated Press

The Los Angeles Angels, already $2500 richer for winning the Pacific coast league baseball pennant, enter the Shaughnessy playoffs tonnght in quest of an additional $5000.

The Angels meet the Sacramento Senators at Los Angeles, while the San Francisco Seals face the Seattle Suds at Seattle in the other half of the playoffs.

After three games in Los Angeles and Senators move into their home park for the rest of a seven-game series. Seattle will windup its playoff series with the Seals in San Francisco. The winners of these two series meet for the $5000 first place playoff prize and the $2500 for runner-up. The other two teams will get $1250 each.

Fullerton And Glendale J. C. Clash Friday

FULLERTON. — Several years ago two young men, Fullerton union high school football stars, left to seek their fortune, as the old saying goes. Friday night, at 8 o'clock, in the Fullerton football stadium, these two young men, Wendell Pickens and Gil Kuhn, will be enemies, at least for the evening. For Pickens is in his second year as head football coach at Fullerton Junior college and Kuhn starts his first season in the same capacity at Glendale Junior college.

A possibility that five lettermen may be in the starting Fullerton lineup was indicated by Pickens this week. Capt. Johnny (Truck) Hanna, 170-pound guard, will lead his team into this first contest of the season.

SAINTS GIRD FOR WILSON

Intensive scrimmaging and general polishing up of all positions were the orders of the day for Santa Ana High school's football team yesterday.

Coach Foote and his assistant, Joe Kogler, appeared pleased at the general performance of the squad. It was Coach Foote's observation, however, that the Saints have a lot of rough spots which need polishing off before their encounter Friday afternoon with Woodrow Wilson at Long Beach.

As a whole, Foote believed the Saints would be about on an even level with the Wilson eleven.

Ray Mercado, right guard, sprained his ankle, which may keep him out of suit today. It is expected, however, that he will be ready by game-time Friday. At the same time, Ralph Shallenberger, tall center, is expected to be in the lineup Friday despite a broken nose. A special nosegear has been prepared for him.

The Saint mentor announced no change in his tentative starting lineup which will see Barney Robinson and Ralph Barnes at ends; Bob Webb and "Chuck" Pride, tackles; Don Dunning and Ray Mercado, guards; and Ralph Shallenberger, center. The backfield will be composed of George Higashi, quarter; Gene Hamaker and Wayne Piper, halfbacks; and Bobbie Musick, fullback.

Young Will Race Friday's Midget

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Karl Young starts batting tonight for Fred Friday on the midget merry-go-round. Pat Warren, owner of the sleek crimson job Friday has been driving, has signed Young for the balance of the season.

The split between Warren and Friday surprised the fans, as Friday is leading contender for the Pacific coast midgeta crown. He has lost, however, the last three times out.

PITTSBURGH'S LEAD NOW LOOMS LARGE

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like the famous ill wind, the Pittsburgh Pirates would have you believe it's an ill rain that helps no one's pennant prospects.

The entire National league program of four doubleheaders was rained right off the 1938 program yesterday and that, in its way, was somewhat more important than any of the three games played in the American league.

RAIN AIDS PIRATES

While the league-leading Pirates were deprived of a chance to improve their record at the expense of the Phillies, they marked up two games that can't be lost and two apiece that their rivals, the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, can't win. They now have 14 to go and Chicago and Cincinnati 13 apiece.

Thus the standing of the pennant contenders looks like this:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Games Behind
Pittsburgh	81	57	.587	....
Chicago	78	61	.561	3½
Cincinnati	76	62	.551	5
New York	75	64	.540	6½

If any of these three rivals should succeed in winning all its 13 games — and nothing appears more unlikely in view of the clubs' recent records—the Pirates would need only eight victories to dispose of the Giants, 10 to eliminate the Reds or 11 to remain ahead of the Cubs.

In other words, the nearer they come to the end of the season, whether they play or not, the bigger that 3½-game lead looks. And to make it more formidable, after the four-game series with Brooklyn that opens today, the Bucs play their remaining games against Cincinnati and Chicago. For practical purposes, every one of those games counts double in increasing or decreasing a lead.

On the ball field, yesterday's outstanding development was one of the most thorough lickings the champion Yankees have taken all season.

BROWNS DRUB YANKEES

After clinching the pennant Sunday, with the aid of the weather, the Yanks dropped a 13-1 decision to the St. Louis Browns. Lou Gehrig played only an inning to preserve his consecutive game record and the rest of the regulars might as well have left with him. They got only six hits off Howard Mills while the Browns nicked Wes Ferrell for four runs in the first two innings then cut loose with eight in the fifth.

Cleveland's Indians, still trying for second place, picked up a half game on the idle Boston Red Sox when they made four hits good for a 4-3 victory over the Athletics. Jeff Heath's homer accounted for three runs. Washington walloped Detroit 12-2 behind Pete Appleton's five-hit flinging and Hank Greenberg's chances of beating Babe Ruth's home run record were further weakened when he was held to a single.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS — By JOHN HIX

THE SCOTTISH MAIDEN . . .

Direct ancestor of all sovereigns of England since 1603 was Lord Henry Stuart Darnley, second husband of Mary, Queen of Scots, and father of James I.

His mother, Lady Margaret Douglas, had arranged his marriage to Mary in hope that Darnley might become king of England on the death of Elizabeth. However, court intrigue and marital trouble foiled Darnley's plans, and in 1567 he learned of a plot to assassinate him.

In Edinburgh, a house at which he had stopped was blown up; his body was found some distance away with evidence of death by strangulation. One of the men implicated in his death was James Douglas, Fourth Earl of Morton and one-time Lord High Chancellor of Scotland.

Douglas, in 1574, had introduced into Scotland from Halifax, England, an early form of guillotine known as "The Maiden," for use against Scottish nobility.

Strange as it seems, this same machine was first used in Scotland to behead the Earl of Morton himself on June 2, 1581, when he was condemned for taking part in the Darnley murder.

New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK. (AP)—Sabre-rattling in Europe sounded less menacing to Wall street today and the stock market took courage to extend its recovery move briskly.

Gains of 1 to around 4 points were posted throughout the list in lively forenoon buying spurts, particularly at the opening. The forward march halted after mid-day for a time, but was resumed again toward the finish.

Markets generally emerged further from the wraps of war fears. Cotton was up around $1 a bale at one time, and bonds, notably U. S. treasury issues, rallied nimbly with stocks.

Wall street got its buying steer before starting dealings from a broad swing upward in European markets, including London, Paris and Amsterdam, and from a rise in foreign currencies in terms of the dollar. Evidence the European rush to get gold and dollars in a flight of capital had diminished also was seen in a sharp fall in the London price of gold.

Something For Nothing? Oh, NO!

Jules Markel, worthy citizen who has been active for years in the development of this community, asked a sincere question in yesterday's Journal, and he's entitled to a frank and honest answer.

He wants to know about students from outside the district who attend Santa Ana Junior college.

Harold Yost, school auditor, furnishes the figures for the answer.

The total cost of operating the Santa Ana Junior college in the last school year was $135,712.82.

On the basis of average daily attendance, the state contributed $58,160.

That left $77,552.82, the remaining cost of operation to be met in Orange county.

The total average daily attendance was 701.51.

The net operating cost, divided by 701.51, reveals $110.55 as the net cost of educating one student one year in the junior college.

However, as in the case of every properly conducted business, an allowance must be made for use of buildings and equipment. So the Santa Ana Junior college adds $65, representing this item, to the $110.55, making a total of $175.55.

Now remember, that $175.55 figure represents ALL the cost items in the operation of the junior college insofar as one student and one year's time is concerned. It includes teachers' pay and all overhead items.

The average daily attendance figures for the last year showed 235.902 student units from Orange county high school districts other than Santa Ana.

Multiply this 235.902 by $175.55 and you will arrive at the figure, $41,412.60.

And that, folks, is the sum paid Santa Ana Junior college by other Orange county high school districts whose boys and girls attend our junior college.

Now, just to realize how little the junior college costs the people of Santa Ana, we will repeat the key figures taken from college records by Auditor Yost:

Cost of running the college one year	$135,712.82
The state's contribution	58,160.00
Other districts pay	41,412.60

Is the junior college giving students something for nothing? Oh, No!

The junior college is about the soundest business proposition any public agency ever operated in this community. Its cost to the district is small, its accomplishments great.

* * * *

Mr. Markel would like to see a union junior college district formed, taking in the southern half of the county.

This was attempted, but the effort failed.

Therefore, we have a choice between these two alternatives:

1. Build a junior college NOW with a government grant paying 45 per cent of the total cost. Build the junior college IN SANTA ANA and have it in use next year.

2. Delay the project with the hope that in some distant time a union district may be formed. If and when such a district can be organized (and, remember, such an effort recently failed), build a college without government aid, for this is our last chance to get federal money, so the taxpayers can pay 100 per cent of the cost and not 55 per cent. And, the college would probably be built outside of Santa Ana.

We can get a modern, adequate junior college now—
With Uncle Sam meeting 45 per cent of the cost—
Right here in Santa Ana.

That's better than continuing to use the present makeshift layout with the dim hope of a union district and then, if everything happened to work out right, building a college outside Santa Ana without a federal grant.

* * * *

Any more questions, folks?

Even Nero Would Shudder!

About 150 years ago a foolish but brave women was beheaded.

This year, a Hollywood producer makes a film story of her life.

So today every American girl has her hair pinned to the top of her head in Marie Antoinette style—which, by the way, is reminiscent of the way old-time washwomen used to wear their hair to keep it out of the suds.

And again:

A few months ago King George of England visited France for a solemn state visit. Like a good husband, he took his wife along.

Queen Elizabeth happens to be Scotch, so Paris milliners are turning out Scotch heather hats by the dozen, and it is predicted the style will soon sweep America.

Those are real makers of history, when they can affect the daily lives and styles of the world.

But on what figures in history can we blame those goofy little hats which only now seem to be going out of style? Even black Nero wouldn't want to shoulder the blame for them!

Bread 'n Wheat

Somebody back on the east coast has suddenly remembered that bread is made of wheat—and that wheat is at the lowest price it has known in years.

A lot of us who have been grieving for the farmer because of his low wheat price will cheer right up if it turns out that the well known staff of life is going to be thrown for a price loss, too.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK. — Gen. Hugh Johnson's picturesque opinion of the presidential dog-robbers, Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen, is one of the most touching detestations of the New Deal phase of American politics. It has been largely through the repetitious expression of the old cavalryman's loathing for this book-smart pair that their famous passion for anonymity has been starved to death. As a result of publicity from the general they are now as famous as they may have wished to be obscure and are growing more so day by day.

Even though he may not realize it, the general probably has in his soul some of the traditional feeling of the soldier in the ranks for the captain's striker who gets the leavings from the table and apparel of the head man and a chance to slip in an occasional needle load of company gossip and advice.

Undefined Position

The dog-robber, like Tommy and Ben, occupies an undefined position, being neither a soldier in the full sense of the word nor an officer but has his being in the atmosphere of command, removed from many of the duties and disciplinary hazards of life in the ranks.

The feeling of the men on the hill, those rough-and-tumble regulars of politics who have to go into action to save their political lives and subsist on the regular mess, seems to be similar to Johnson's. Politics is their business, and they are exposed to risks and temptations that do not exist in the sheltered life of the political secretariat.

It would be strange indeed if a senator or representative, taking a full part in the company life and duties, did not feel slightly resentful at the smirking officiousness of a protected presidential house pet in telling him what he must do in some matter involving his manly independence if not his principles, which nowadays are mentioned only with a sneer, anyway.

He would be no man if he did not sense presumption in such approaches and in threats, however suavely put and however authentic. No wise company commander would send his dog-robber to issue orders for distasteful duty to soldiers in the ranks with accompanying intimations of so much K. P. or so many days in the guardhouse for failure.

Mr. Roosevelt has his sergeants for such missions, but he has chosen to use his strikers instead and has permitted them to concoct onerous assignments which gall the souls of the old campaigners, with the natural result that the company morale has been shot to hell.

They Climb Fast

The rather spinsterly existence of the president's political batmen has been thrown in the faces of the rough-handed and deep-voiced bucks in the barracks who conduct themselves as common soldiers. They have to stand inspection by both their constituents and the boss and are invited to the white house only to be crawled or specially instructed, whereas Tommy and Ben stand neither formations nor inspection and enjoy the possession of latchkeys to the skipper's quarters.

Tommy and Ben never earned chevrons in the party. They came in only yesterday as soft-handed recruits. And yet old-timers in the democratic outfit have been given to feel that a commander to whom they offered loyal co-operation within the articles of war has let his dog-robbers push them around and threaten them with court-martial and execution for failure to comply with schemes which violated their ingrained understanding of their obligations to the country.

GUESSING LAWS

A radio audience trying to guess the color or object selected by the announcer in a test of "telepathy," and a student trying to guess the answers in a "yes-no" or "true-false" type of examination, are likely to have some success because audience, announcer, student, and professor are all governed in their selections by certain definite psychological laws. Tests demonstrating this were reported recently by Dr. L. D. Goodfellow of Northwestern university.

If a person is making choices between two objects he naturally follows a symmetrical pattern in his choices, Dr. Goodfellow found. If the guesser believes, however, that chance has determined the order he is trying to match, he makes an effort to follow a haphazard order and so avoids the symmetrical pattern. Since the experimenter or instructor does the same thing, the chances of the two patterns coinciding are increased—Science Service.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

Louis XIV, king of France, had been petitioned by the assembly of the estates of Bearne to erect a statue to their countryman, Henry IV. The high-strung, pompous Louis replied that a statue to himself would be much more appropriate. The people obediently erected a statue to him, but engraved upon it these words: "To him who is the grandson of our great Henry."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Most important factor to remember regarding the present European belligerency is that the Germans are completely prepared. They have been working toward this day with typical German precision, now figure that this is the time to get what they want.

The extent to which Germany is armed and on a virtual war basis is difficult for anyone on this side of the Atlantic to conceive, according to confidential reports received here. No secret is made of this fact by the Germans, probably because of the psychological effect it will have on their enemies.

Not long ago General Vuillemon, chief of the French air corps, inspected Germany's air force. The nazis appeared to be completely above-board with him, took him through all their factories, showed the quantity of planes they were manufacturing.

Flabbergasted by Germany's air strength, Vuillemon afterwards reported to Premier Daladier that the Germans must be making planes for export—that they were manufacturing far too many for domestic use alone. He estimated that the German army was equipped with at least 7,000 fighting machines.

Although Gen. Goering probably exaggerated when he boasted of Germany's ample food supplies, confidential reports do indicate that the nazis are sufficiently prepared to risk a war of moderate duration.

Grain and oil have been coming in from Rumania and Jugoslavia in tremendous quantities, together with various other raw materials. Obviously the nazis are not going to make the same mistake they did in 1914 regarding supplies.

Last winter, when Hitler reorganized the army's high command and appointed as chief of staff a mediocre general who previously was in charge of "pots and pans," the move was interpreted as a slap at other general staff members. Now, however, it looks as if Hitler might have wanted a man in command who would concentrate on the accumulation of vast war reserves. Anyway he now has those reserves.

British Food

Reactions to Germany's war threats are diametrically opposite in France and Great Britain.

The French are taking the matter with relative stoicism, have expected for some time that they would have to fight Germany, believe the date cannot be postponed much longer.

The British, however, are panic-stricken, especially members of the cabinet. Chief reason for British terror is their food supply. It is sufficient to last only five weeks, meanwhile the wartime problem of shipping food to Britain has become increasingly difficult.

Reason is that in wartime, the Mediterranean would virtually disappear as a highway for British shipping. The strength of the Italian navy, especially of Italian submarines, would require the complete abandonment of the Mediterranean as a trade route. Instead, British shipping from India, China and Australia would take the long haul around the continent of Africa.

Second, the Pacific also would almost disappear as far as British shipping is concerned, due to the strength of the Japanese fleet in that area.

Finally, the British would have much more difficulty than ever in protecting their merchant shipping in the Atlantic, due first to the tremendous number of Italian and German submarines, and second to the danger of attacks from the air.

The latter is an enemy which British shipping did not have to worry about in 1914. But the success of German and Italian planes in sinking more than 50 British shipes off Spanish coasts on behalf of Gen. Franco now gives the British pause before they make assurances to Czechoslovakia and France regarding war in Europe.

The Italians and Germans between them have a total of 172 submarines, far more, and far more effective than the old fashioned U-boats operated by Germany in 1914.

German naval tactics are not to venture outside the Baltic, but to use the German fleet to convoy German troops to Kronstadt in the Gulf of Finland for an attack upon Leningrad. This would help to divert the Russians from rushing to the aid of Czechoslovakia through Rumania.

Checkerboard

Despite the desperation of the British to avoid war, consensus of most experts is that France is sure to come to the aid of Czechoslovakia if the latter is attacked, and that Britain in turn is sure to come to the aid of France. In this case, here is how the European checkerboard is almost sure to line up:

1. France will immediately move into Spain to clean out Franco, the 11 German airdromes along the Spanish border and any danger of attack from the south.

2. Italy will take advantage of this to move into Tunis, the French possession in North Africa in which Italian immigrants predominate.

3. Hungary will move against Czechoslovakia from the south, on the pretext of freeing Hungarians within Czech borders.

4. Russia will move through Rumania to the aid of Czechoslovakia despite any German attacks on North Russia.

5. Czechoslovakia will become the modern Belgium of Europe. She will be able to withstand German attack for only three to four weeks.

German Bluff?

What the German high command is counting upon is that the annexation of Czechoslovakia, or at least the Sudeten part, will be accomplished just as quietly as the swallowing up of Austria.

If this cannot be accomplished, the Germans estimate that they can clean up the Czechs in four weeks. Their strategy has been to do this before other nations can make up their minds to come in.

In other words, the psychological factor, the old game of bluff, continues to control or at least influence the destinies of Europe. If Hitler could have been sure on Monday that the British were coming in he might not have made the speech he did.

JUDGE STUMP

Has there ever been a man so strong that he wasn't afraid of something? K. E. F.

Nope. For instance, the India rubber man at the circus was very strong on humor. He finally got so humorous that he was afraid to have people ask him anything. He was afraid he'd get hurt on his own comeback. STUMP.

"GHOTI" SPELLS "FISH"

A foreigner who insisted that "fish" should be spelled 'ghoti" explained it in this fashion: "Gh" is pronounced as in "rough," the "o" as in "women," and the "ti" as in "nation"—so maybe he's right.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

A PLEA FOR THE J. C.

Every discussion of the coming bond election from which we hope to build an adequate junior college for Santa Ana, has seemed to rely on an imposing array of facts relating to costs, and the benefits derived which can be measured in dollars and cents.

As a business proposition such a procedure is wise and desirable, but it also seems that a discussion of intangible values has a place and should be given a measure of thoughtful consideration by every voter on Sept. 23.

The right to a free education is the precious heritage of American youth today and that education must be kept "free" in every sense of the word. The world shudders as it anticipates the results of regimented education abroad but let us realize once and for all time, that to a certain degree mass education in great university centers may be just as undesirable. It is here that the junior college plays its important part by hardening immaturity into self-reliance before it meets the test of mass psychology.

No one can deny that the richest community experience springs from a center of constructive thought which is shared, but not imposed, by the educational leaders of that group. Our junior college has met this challenge over a period of many years and has maintained a staff of leadership second to none, and from its graduates many have been chosen to fill positions of high prominence. But we cannot continue to build the future solely upon the past.

Newer and greater responsibilities confront the youth of today and the only answer is the provision of greater facilities for education if we are to do our part.

If civic sacrifices must be made, common sense declares that educational facilities should be the last to go. Vote "yes" on Sept. 23.

What Other Editors Say

THE BOLSHEVIK LABEL

Writing in the current number of Public Ownership, Franklin Hichborn, well known California liberal, cites an incident in Illinois in which Roy McGregor, a power company publicity agent, was asked by a candidate for the senate how he should oppose a man running against him who had declared for public ownership.

McGregor replied:

My idea would be not to try logic or reason but to try to pin the Bolshevik idea on my opponent. I do not think the theory of public ownership would be of much use except before a hand picked audience.

Confronted later at a hearing before the Federal Trade Commission by this admirable piece of advice, McGregor was asked to elaborate. He replied the thought he had intended to express was that there would be no use of entering into a public discussion of public ownership since argument would be unnecessary if he could create a prejudice against his opponent simply by branding him as a radical or Bolshevik.

The device Press Agent McGregor employed has been and still is being worked overtime. In short, it means that when logic fails you squelch further discussion simply by calling your opponent a Communist, Bolshevik or one of the other numerous titles that go with radicalism. Once he is so branded, it thereupon becomes unpatriotic for him or any of his friends to attempt to defend his position.

Hichborn probably is correct in predicting that tactics of this sort will be used in the forthcoming campaign on the Garrison Revenue Bond Act, which will appear on the November ballot as a referendum. For this kind of attack was employed by the power companies, their allies and hired men to defeat the California Water and Power act some years ago.

Well financed organizations bearing such high sounding titles as the late Greater California League no doubt will make their appearance to attempt to discredit not only the Garrison measure but also the men who are working for it.

Fortunately this dodge is getting a little shop worn. And so is the cry of Bolshevik. The California voters are not likely to be deceived thereby.

DALE CARNEGIE'S Philosophy

Day —By— Day

Let me tell you about a sickly farm boy who, when he had arrived at the age of 16, had had only 10 weeks of schooling. Yet he revolutionized the school system of America.

His name was Horace Mann.

One of the finest schools in America is named in his honor. It is at Broadway and 120th street, New York, a school for girls and small boys. There is one for older boys in Riverdale.

Horace Mann was miserably poor. He had a frail body. But, determined to get an education, he borrowed books from the village library and educated himself.

He decided to go to college. So he hired a tutor to prepare him. He went into debt so heavily to raise this money that it took him nine years to pay for his tutor.

Just as he was beginning to get ahead, he endorsed notes for his brother. What generally happens, occurred in this case. Horace was left holding the bag. In paying off his brother's debts, Horace Mann had, for years, to sleep on a cot at his office in order to save money. But he did get the debts paid off, and at last was a free man.

His education finally brought financial returns. He became a successful lawyer in Boston. But his handicap years haunted him. There were other boys who wanted an education; something must be done for them, and for the wretched public schools. A man of action, he set about it.

Everywhere he met apathy; schools were good enough, people said; and he met with the bitterest opposition from the politicians. Plenty of money had been appropriated, the public claimed (of course, it never got to the schools). But he kept on and we may be thankful he did, for he became the founder of America's first normal schools and practically created the present public school system of this country.

Ill health pursued him, but his flame of determination burned bright. (He became, in later years, president of Antioch college in Ohio). He worked hard all winter and when spring arrived, was worn in health. There was to be a commencement speaker, but he sent word he could not come. So Horace Mann, against his doctor's advice, delivered the commencement address himself. And the frail little man did it with fire in his eyes. Toward the end of his speech he uttered these words—

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity."

He was not so well the next day, and soon took to his bed. In a year he was dead. He had won his victory.

What a fine motto: "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity." Do some kind act for your neighbor, or your church, or your school, or for the poor boy who lives on the other side of the track. Try to make the world a little better because you have been in it.

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

To read some of the speeches about how big business is being abused, you'd think that this is the first time in history when people have not been sympathetic with corporations. When I was a boy down home, the only corporation we knew of was the railroad, and every time the circuit court convened; there would be at least a dozen cases where farmers was suin' the railroad company for runnin' over a town.

I remember one time when the railroad lawyer got up to plead his case, he noticed there were only eleven men in the jury. When he spoke to the judge about it, one of the jurymen got up and says, "That's all right, judge, don't worry about it—Bill Hocks had to go home and tend to a sick hog, but he left his verdict with me."
